Geneva Talks To Be Halted For Two Days

Allied Big Three Ministers To Attend Rites For Dulles

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed Sunday night on a two-day break in their talks to allow statesmen to attend the funeral of John Foster Dulles in Washington. The conference will be in recess Wednesday and Thursday.

An American delegation spokesman announced Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko expressed to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter over the telephone his "deep condolences" and that he fully understood Herter's desire to hurry home for the funeral.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville also will leave Geneva Tuesday night to attend the funeral. An American spokesman said there was some possibility that Gromyko might go, too, but no announcement had been made by the Russians.

Weekend Recess

The four-power talks will resume Monday after a weekend break. The two-day recess will give the conferees a chance to review and maybe revise their stances on the perilous issues of Berlin and Germany which divide them.

Western statesmen had planned anyway to come to grips in secret talks with Gromyko on the key issue of Berlin's immediate future. They also had hoped to draw him out on the possibility of narrowing differences on other matters, notably some aspects of European security, German unification and disarmament. If progress is achieved in the next week or two along these lines it would insure the holding of a summit parley this summer.

West Seeks Stopgap Pact

Herter, Lloyd and Couve de Murville are believed to be virtually resigned to the need for negotiating some sort of stopgap agreement with the Soviet Union on Berlin. The status of that disputed and divided city has been in doubt ever since Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev threatened six months ago to push the Allies out of their Western sectors.

The Western powers have a stack of ideas about the sort of arrangement that might be negotiated for Berlin.

But they are firm in their resolve that any such arrangement must leave them no worse off than they are now and must also restore the door open for Berlin's restoration as capital city of a reunited Germany.

Soviets, British Sign Trade Agreement

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union and British Board of Trade representatives signed a five-year agreement on trade expansion Sunday night in a Moscow restaurant.

Sir David Eccles, president of Britain's Board of Trade, told reporters that Soviet automobiles are among the products that will be left into the British market under the agreement, which is slated to become effective July 1. Eccles still has to get parliamentary approval of the agreement.

If the trade agreement works out as planned, said Eccles, there should be a 33 per cent increase in British purchases from the Soviet Union during the first year.

Hoffa Declares His Teamsters Would Back Steel Strike

BOSTON (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa said Sunday if there is a steel strike, the Teamsters will support the steelworkers.

Hoffa, speaking at a communion breakfast, said the Steelworkers Union recently had asked him what his position would be in the event of a strike.

"I told them," Hoffa said, "I will support you because after the employers destroy you they will destroy us, therefore it is a common fight."

Hoffa, who earlier had attended a memorial Mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, told some 2,500 Boston Teamsters:

"For the last two years you have witnessed the greatest exposure of this country. The radio, television, the press are trying to tell you that the Teamsters are a menace to the country."

Then, his voice filled with rage, Hoffa displayed a cartoon from the Boston Sunday Herald which pictured him in caveman attire, holding a club and blocking the way to a highway tunnel labeled "Truck Route USA." The caption read: "Leave things as they are, or else!"

Hoffa, who had told newsmen previously his remarks would be confined to the Kennedy-Ervin labor bill, then began the first of several tirades against newspapers, cartoonists and newsmen.

"We are not going to leave things as they are," Hoffa shouted. "We won't accept too little a wage, too little a health and welfare fund."

"My responsibility is far and beyond (that of) some cartoonists or editorial writers who want to display their high school skills to embarrass you and possibly put you in prison."

Hoffa, directing a hostile look to newsmen covering his speech, said that perhaps the reason he receives what he described as a poor press is that in some communities his truck drivers make more than newspapermen.

His remark drew applause and

Defiant House Demos To Act On Wheat Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defiant House Democrats, indifferent to veto threats, will act this week on a wheat surplus control bill completely at odds with President Eisenhower's farm plans.

They counted on passing the measure and thus handing the administration its second major legislative setback in as many weeks. Eisenhower suffered a decisive defeat only last week on housing, which also is snarled now in potential veto troubles.

A bill giving wheat farmers the choice of even higher price supports than now are provided goes before the House Rules Committee for floor clearance Monday or Tuesday.

Leaders have scheduled a vote before next weekend if the Rules Committee acts in time. And they expect the bill to pass.

Clearly angered over Eisenhower's stand on agriculture, House leaders let it be known they are ready and willing to risk a veto. They contend the administration has refused to cooperate in working out a mutually acceptable program, and now plan to go ahead on their own.

The administration plan would provide considerably lower dollar supports, based on a percentage of the last average three-year market price—about $1.40 a bushel as against the present support price of $1.81 at 75 per cent of parity.

Eisenhower two weeks ago warned Congress that the government will have 3½ billion dollars worth of surplus wheat in its warehouses by 1960 unless something is done to halt the buildup.

Democratic confidence in passage of their own wheat bill was bolstered by last week's runaway victory over the administration on housing aids. On this bill, farm state Democrats went along with members from big city districts where government subsidized slum elimination and low rent public housing are popular.

Leaders expected Northern big city members to return the favor when the vote comes on a wheat bill favored by the farmers.

The Senate last Friday passed a two-year stopgap wheat bill which, in general, provides higher price supports for less production. It also limits price support payments to any one farm or farmer to $35,000.

Iraq Kurd Refugees Promised Iran's Aid

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Premier Menechur Eghbal met representatives of Iraqi Kurdish refugees in western Iran Saturday night and promised the Iranian government would help them.

Official reports reaching here Sunday said that in reply, nearly 100 representatives of the Kurds expressed loyalty to the Shah and their hatred of the increasing Communist influence in their own country.

Unofficially, between 5,000 and 10,000 Kurds are believed to have fled to Iran and they are still trekking across the border.

U.S. Leaders Saddened By Tragic Loss

Ex-Secretary Is Eulogized For His Courage, Integrity

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's leaders mourned the death of John Foster Dulles Sunday as a tragic loss to the free world. In an outpouring of tributes, Dulles was eulogized as a courageous fighter dedicated to peace and his country.

President Eisenhower called his former secretary of state "one of the truly great men of our time." Dulles' successor, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, said in Geneva that Dulles "truly gave his life in the service of his country."

"We have lost our greatest secretary of state," said former President Herbert Hoover.

Former President Harry S. Truman commented "We've lost a good public servant and I'm as sorry as I can be."

One of Dulles' closest associates from years back, former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey characterized him as "one of the finest human beings I have ever known."

In the flood of statements and comments expressing sorrow at Dulles' death the words "courageous" and "dedicated" were frequently used to describe him. They came from both Republicans and Democrats.

President Issues Statement

Eisenhower, spending the weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, issued a statement saying:

"A lifetime of labor for world peace has ended. His courage, his wisdom and his friendly understanding were devoted to bettering relations among nations. He was a foe only to tyranny. From his life and work, humanity will, in the years to come, gain renewed inspiration to work ever harder for the attainment of the goal of peace with justice."

In Geneva for the foreign ministers conference, Herter said the policies for which Dulles "strove so valiantly" will be pursued until the day of their general acceptance.

The No. 2 man in the State Department, Undersecretary C. Douglas Dillon, said of Dulles:

"He was a truly remarkable man whose intellectual powers, personal courage and high moral integrity won him the respect and admiration of free men everywhere."

"He will be sorely missed by all who believe, as he so fervently believed, that a peaceful and stable order can be achieved under liberty and justice if we steadfastly pursue policies founded on the principle that 'there is a rule of law which is above the rule of man.'"

Lauded By Fulbright

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) described Dulles as a "dedicated and courageous public servant."

"I just wish we had more men as willing as Mr. Dulles to devote their time and effort to the welfare of their country," he added.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon lauded Dulles as "one of the truly heroic figures of the 20th century."

"He was one of those rare individuals who lived to see the verdict of history vindicate the very policies which seemed to be so unpopular at the time he advocated them," he said.

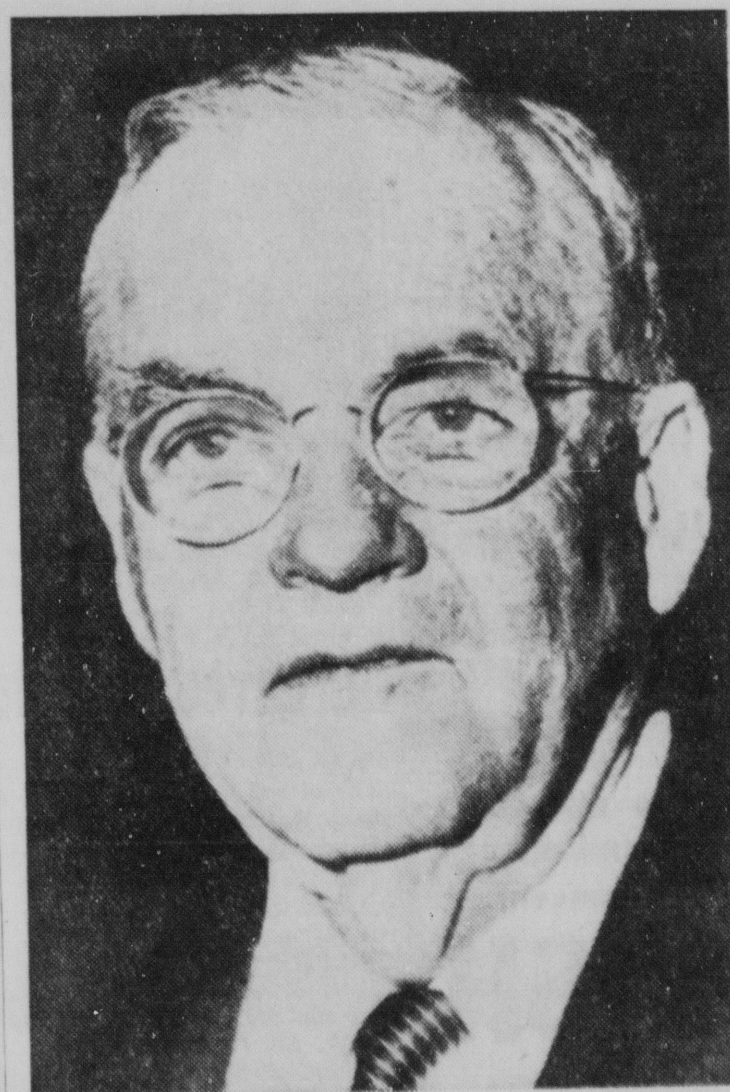

Marie McDonald Weds TV Executive

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"I've never been so happy in my life," says Mrs. Lou Bass, otherwise known as Marie (the Body) McDonald.

The 35-year-old actress married Bass, a television executive, in a surprise ceremony Saturday. It was her third marriage and the first for Bass, 36.

The ceremony was performed in the chapel of the Flamingo Hotel, where Miss McDonald is appearing in a show. Singer Vic Damone was best man and Marie Tuboni—Miss McDonald's mother—was the only other member of the wedding party.

The shapely actress' former husbands are actor's agent Vic Orsatti and millionaire shoe manufacturer Harry Karl. She divorced Karl last year.

Bad Public Relations Could Beat Strauss, Magnuson Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Senate rejects Lewis L. Strauss' nomination for secretary of commerce, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) said Sunday the appointee can lay major blame on bad public relations.

The Senate will get two reports on Strauss this week from its Commerce Committee, which Magnuson heads, one, subscribed to by nine members, will urge Senate confirmation. An eight-member report will ask rejection of the appointment.

Debate on the nomination probably will begin next week, with the final outcome regarded as highly uncertain.

Magnuson, who voted against Strauss in committee, said in an interview he had intended to support the nomination but had changed his mind because of Strauss' attitude toward charges made against him by Sens. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) and Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

These two senators accused Strauss of being devious in his dealings with Congress as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. Strauss and Anderson in turn branded different parts of the territory as "unqualified falsehoods," Strauss said Kefauver used "the technique of trial by innuendo" against him.

"Strauss creates controversy wherever he goes," Magnuson said. "And with half of the Senate feeling uneasy about him, I don't see how he could do a competent job as secretary of commerce."

"If he had come in and had admitted he might have made some mistakes as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and had not been belligerent in his attitude, I think he might have been confirmed. Being secretary of commerce is a different kind of job and as a business man he certainly has had some training for it."

Government, Business, People Owe $770 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The total debts of all the people, businesses and government bodies in the United States rose about 34 billion dollars last year to a record high of 770 billion dollars.

The Commerce Department, which reported the statistics Sunday, said the rise is continuing this year. With business prospering, it said "nearly all major categories of private borrowers have stepped up their demands on the money and capital markets."

Deficit financing by the federal government and mortgage borrowing by individuals accounted for most of the debt increase.

The net debt of the federal government rose eight billion dollars, or 3½ per cent, to $232,700,000,000.

Powell Joins Hospital Strike Demonstrators

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People led demonstrators Sunday supporting the strikers against six voluntary hospitals here.

Police estimated about 500 persons joined picket lines outside Mount Sinai Hospital to support the two-week old strike of house-keeping workers seeking union recognition.

Union sources have estimated that 90 per cent of the strikers are Negro or Puerto Rican, employed mostly as nursing aides, cooks, dishwashers, laundresses, porters and elevator operators.

The Retail Drug Employees Union called the strike against Mount Sinai, Bronx, Brooklyn Jewish, Beth David, Beth Israel and Lenox Hill hospitals. The union contends some workers are paid as little as $25 for a 40-hour week. All the hospitals reported they lost money last year.

Red Guns Silent

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Communists lapsed into their usual even-numbered day silence Sunday after peppering the Quemoy Islands with 375 shells Saturday—an odd-numbered day. The Defense Ministry said Quemoy bore the brunt of the attack, receiving 281 rounds. The remaining 94 rounds were directed at Little Quemoy, second largest island of the complex.

This figure is less than the national debt—now about 285 billion—because it doesn't include money owed to one federal agency by another.

Residential mortgage debts climbed nearly 13 billion dollars to 144½ billion.

The only type of debt decline in 1958 was short-term obligations of corporations. These fell five billion dollars to 127½ billion.

Long-term corporate debts rose eight billion dollars to about 120 billion.

Debts of state and local governments increased about four billion dollars to nearly 51 billion.

Obligations, including mortgage debts, of individuals and unincorporated businesses rose nearly 18 billion to 239½ billion.

Eisenhower Leads Free World Tribute To Peace Fighter

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles died Sunday of cancer. The former secretary of state was 71.

For six years, perhaps as no other cabinet officer before him, Dulles was a molder and warden of the nation's foreign policy.

Leaders of America and the free world, from President Eisenhower on down, poured out words of farewell and glowing tribute to Dulles as a man dedicated to freedom and peace.

In a statement he pencilled on a sheet of yellow paper, Eisenhower described his departed friend and confidante as a lifetime laborer for world peace, a foe of tyranny and "one of the truly great men of our time."

With the full military honors accorded heroes and distinguished men, Dulles will be buried Wednesday on a wooded hillside at Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac from Washington.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower paid a 20-minute call at Dulles' home in northwest Washington late in the afternoon.

The President seemed in a sombre mood as he stepped out of his limousine in front of the Dulles house and escorted his wife to the front door. He appeared equally downcast when he emerged from the ride back to the executive mansion.

Geneva Talks To Recess

In Geneva, the Big Four foreign ministers conference, grappling with the fate of Germany and Berlin, agreed to a recess over Wednesday and Thursday because of Dulles' death.

Three of the principals, and perhaps Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as well, will fly the Atlantic to the Dulles funeral service.

Dulles' successor, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, will be accompanied by the British and French foreign ministers, Selwyn Lloyd and Maurice Couve de Murville.

U.S. Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy announced in Geneva he will fly to Washington for the funeral.

Although Dulles, to his undoubted satisfaction, never was admired by the Soviet high command, an American spokesman at Geneva said Gromyko had expressed "deep condolences" to Herter and also might fly to Washington.

But from Communist-ruled Hungary, Radio Budapest said that Dulles' "fanaticism imprinted itself on the United States foreign policy." Broadcasts from other Communist states of Eastern Europe followed the same line.

From over much of the rest of the world, however, came expressions of sympathy and tribute.

The President shortened a weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm by several hours and hurried back to Washington by automobile. Back at the White House, he signed a proclamation calling Dulles "a champion of righteousness whose eyes were fixed on the highest goals which men are given to see."

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower paid a 20-minute call at Dulles' home in northwest Washington late in the afternoon.

The President seemed in a sombre mood as he stepped out of his limousine in front of the Dulles house and escorted his wife to the front door. He appeared equally downcast when he emerged for the ride back to the executive mansion.

Geneva Talks To Recess

In Geneva, the Big Four foreign ministers conference, grappling with the fate of Germany and Berlin, agreed to a recess over Wednesday and Thursday because of Dulles' death.

Three of the principals, and perhaps Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as well, will fly the Atlantic to the Dulles funeral service.

Dulles' successor, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, will be accompanied by the British and French foreign ministers, Selwyn Lloyd and Maurice Couve de Murville.

U.S. Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy announced in Geneva he will fly to Washington for the funeral.

Although Dulles, to his undoubted satisfaction, never was admired by the Soviet high command, an American spokesman at Geneva said Gromyko had expressed "deep condolences" to Herter and also might fly to Washington.

But from Communist-ruled Hungary, Radio Budapest said that Dulles' "fanaticism imprinted it union contends some workers are paid as little as $25 for a 40-hour week. All the hospitals reported they lost money last year."

From over much of the rest of the world, however, came expressions of sympathy and tribute.

The President shortened a weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm by several hours and hurried back to Washington by automobile. Back at the White House, he signed a proclamation calling Dulles a champion of righteousness "whose eyes were fixed on the highest goals which men are given to see."

Md. Young Republicans Call On GOP To Rebuild

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (AP)—Among those who did attend the Maryland Federation of Young Republicans, spurning defeatist talk, has called on the parent GOP organization to build "new and thriving party machinery."

The younger members of the party suggested at their convention here Saturday that their group be used widely in that effort to spring back from recent crushing setbacks by Democrats.

George D. Hubbard, a Baltimore delegate, told the group of 176 about the formation of a new fund-raising unit which will operate independently of the city GOP committee.

A pointed snub was leveled at former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who was not invited to the convention. He is the Maryland member of the Republican National Committee.

A ranking official of the young GOP, asked to comment on the omission of McKeldin, asked: "What's he ever done for the younger members of his party?"

Devereux, who got the warmest applause of any speaker, said frank discussions about party problems should be held "now, not just before election."

Earlier, William B. Prendergast, one-time faculty member at the Naval Academy, complained that the Maryland Republican party "is sick unto death."

Prendergast said he'd heard that conservative and liberal elements in the party were shaping up for a battle and added: "To consider any such battle at the present time would seem like a contest to become the sole custodian of a corpse."

"If the Republican party is to survive, a massive effort to resuscitate it must be undertaken without delay."

Bereaved Ike Orders Flags To Half Staff

The rites at Arlington will be preceded by services at Washington National cathedral, an unfinished mass of stone on the highest spot in the capital. Dulles was a leader of the Presbyterian Church, and Presbyterian clergy-men will officiate.

For 24 hours, Dulles' body will lie in repose at the cathedral chapel, with an honor guard of uniformed servicemen keeping the vigil beside it.

Dulles is being honored with an official rather than a state funeral. In a state funeral, ordinarily reserved for men of even higher rank, the body lies in state at the U. S. Capitol.

He died in his sleep at 7:49 a. m. at Walter Reed Army Hospital. Three physicians and members of his family were present in the green-walled room.

Dulles' tortured breathing stopped once, started up again, then came to an end.

"Is it all over?" one of the family inquired.

A doctor nodded. For Dulles, the long struggle against unquarable odds was over.

Racked by cancer, weakened by pneumonia, his strength, massive will and courage were unequal to the task of further prolonging this last momentous battle.

For weeks, Dulles had been slipping. Back in February he was told that there had been a recurrence of the cancer of the colon for which he was operated in 1956.

Heavy radiation treatment failed to stop the dread disease, although Dulles was able to leave Walter Reed Army Medical Center for a time for a respite in Florida.

By April 12 he was back inevitably at the hospital, never to leave again. Three days after his return, Eisenhower reluctantly accepted Dulles' resignation as secretary of state.

Famed visitors came to Dulles' bedside—Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill of Britain, former President Harry S. Truman and others.

In every way possible, Eisenhower strove to keep up the morale and spirit of the man who was his warm personal friend as well as a valued, trusted adviser. He named Dulles a consultant on foreign policy, with Cabinet rank. And Dulles' old Cabinet chair remained at the White House as a symbol, empty and unused.

Just last Wednesday, the President bestowed on Dulles the nation's highest award to civilians, the Medal of Freedom. Only 13 persons have received this award since it was created in 1946.

Dulles was too ill for Eisenhower to present the medal in person. Mrs. Dulles, a daily visitor at her husband's bedside, did it on his behalf.

Pain-killing drugs eased the final days—days which Dulles at times was barely conscious, and when aides said he sometimes was unable to recognize those around him.

Members of the family were notified at their homes at 5:30 this morning that the end was approaching. Mrs. Dulles was with her husband when he died.

Dulles' two sons, John and Avery, were at the hospital, too. So were his brother, Allen, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and his sister, Eleanor, a State Department official.

Within seconds, Eisenhower was told at Gettysburg of Dulles' death. The sad word was relayed to him by the President's own physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

The President was getting ready to attend services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian church. He canceled his plans and sat down to pen a tribute to Dulles and a proclamation of national mourning.

The flag on the farmhouse lawn was lowered to half staff. Here in Washington, the flags at the White House and the State Department were lowered, too. And Eisenhower ordered those on all public buildings over the nation placed at half staff.

Even in his lifetime, even from those who didn't always agree with all his policies, Dulles had won acclaim as a great secretary of state, a man dedicated to the cause of peace. Unrestrained tributes and expressions of sorrow flowed to his hospital room at the time of his resignation from the Cabinet.

Yet, through the years, a measure of controversy and criticism surrounded his stewardship of foreign policy.

Dulles Fearless Air Traveler

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles visited 46 countries while traveling 559,998 air miles as secretary of state during six turbulent years.

A fearless air traveler, he flew the equivalent of 22 times around the world, either on crisis missions, good will trips or for strategy talks with scores of leaders.

During this time, he ranged all over Europe, much of the Middle East, Latin America, and became the first secretary of state ever to visit Asia. But, while secretary, he stopped short of the Iron Curtain.

In all this flying, he had only one faint brush with disaster — and that came on a routine June 8, 1957, flight from New York to Washington in a two-engine Navy transport.

One of the engines suddenly belched black smoke as the plane was coming in to land at the military air terminal. Swiftly, the pilot put the plane down in an emergency landing at Anacostia Naval Air Station, which was closer, before the engine caught fire.

Dulles sat unperturbed, chatting with the aide who nervously kept looking out the window trying to keep the secretary from knowing how frightened he was.

Appendicitis On Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Appendicitis seems to be losing its punch.

Fewer people seem to be getting it now than in 1941. So if you haven't had it, your chances of avoiding an appendicitis operation seem to be better now.

Strong evidence that the disease is less frequent now is reported by Drs. Kenneth B. Castleton, Salt Lake City, Utah; Charles B. Puestow, Chicago, and Dean Sauer, St. Louis, Mo., in the Archives of Surgery of the American Medical Assn.

Surveying big city and small town hospitals, they found a nearly 50 per cent decrease in the number of appendectomies — surgery removing the appendix — in 1956 compared with 1941.

Hospitals and medical groups have campaigned in recent years against unnecessary appendectomies based on poor or careless diagnosis.

This accounts for some of the decrease, but by no means for all of it, the physicians said.

In 1941, appendectomies accounted for about 10 per cent of all kinds of operations. In 1956 it was only 2 per cent.

Better diet, better dietary habits, or increased use of antibiotics for other diseases — but acting with preventive effect against appendicitis—might be reasons for the decline, but there's no scientific evidence for these theories, they added.

Australia is sometimes called the shadeless land.

Appendicitis On Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Appendicitis seems to be losing its punch.

Fewer people seem to be get- ting it now than in 1941. So if you haven't had it, your chances of avoiding an appendicitis operation seem to be better now.

Plane Crashes Near Girl Scout Encampment

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — The wings of a single-engine plane were sheared off in trees bordering a Girl Scout encampment Saturday night when the pilot attempted an emergency landing in dense fog.

Margaret George, a scout leader from Cockeysville, said from where she stood it looked as though the plane was going to hit one of the 12 to 15 tents filled with about 30 Baltimore area girls.

The pilot, Roland W. Charles Jr., 23, said he overshot the meadow and landed in the treetops after having trouble reducing the speed of the plane. He said he decided to land after "it fogged up suddenly."

Charles was released from St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore after treatment for cuts and bruises. He told a reporter he was a television engineer with Station WADY in Norfolk, Va., and had rented the plane in Portsmouth, Va.

The pilot, alone in the red Taylorcraft plane, said he left Portsmouth about 11:30 a. m. Saturday on a flight to Rutherford Field in the Baltimore suburb of Woodlawn. He stopped at the Washington-Virginia airport at 2 p. m. and because of weather didn't take off again until 6:30 p. m.

Charles helped rescuers secure his plane so it wouldn't fall from the trees as they worked more than an hour to free him.

Ellicott City, the county seat of Howard County, is about 10 miles west of Baltimore.

Boy Rescues His Stabbed Mother Before Train Hits

SANDY HOOK, Md. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy removed his critically wounded mother from a car just minutes before it was demolished Saturday night by a railroad train near here.

The mother, Mrs. Josephine Stottlemeyer, 42, of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., had been stabbed 6 or 7 times in the chest while driving the car, State Police said.

The vehicle left the road, crashed down a 15-foot embankment and stopped on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks.

Police were seeking the husband, Wallace Kenneth Stottlemeyer, 42, also of Harpers Ferry, charged with serious assault and stabbing.

Stottlemeyer jumped from the car before the mishap, State Police said.

The son, Wallace Kenneth Jr., told police he saw his father swing several times at his mother but did not know he wielded a knife until he leaned forward from the back seat to grab him.

Mrs. Stottlemeyer was in critical condition at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

The son escaped injury.

Idle Payments Drop

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland officials have reported a 15 per cent drop from March to April in the amount of unemployment benefits they paid out and a 30 per cent decrease from April last year.

Robert B. Kimble, employment security director, said the decline resulted from improving economic conditions and from the exhaustion of maximum benefits for some jobless workers.

Kimble reported regular payments totaling $4,013,352 last month, compared with $4,723,700 in March.

Four Die In Traffic Accidents

By The Associated Press

Four persons were fatally injured in Maryland during the weekend as a result of accidents involving motor vehicles.

The victims included a motorist, a motorcyclist, a pedestrian and an infant run over as her mother backed a car from the family driveway.

The child, 17-month-old Dianna Biser, was fatally injured Saturday about three miles west of Middletown in Frederick County.

Mrs. Charlotte Louise Biser, 24, told State Police she was backing her car onto a secondary road when she heard a scream and felt a thump. The mother said she thought the child was playing off to the side of the driveway.

A car-motorcycle collision Saturday on U. S. 1 about two miles north of Hickory in Harford County resulted in the death of Donald F. Smith, 25, of Street, Md. He was riding the motorcycle.

State Police said the driver of the car was Camilla L. Ashley, 23, of Bel Air.

In a third Saturday accident, Samuel P. Wright, 65, Negro, of Baltimore, was struck and killed as he walked near his home.

Three Rescued From Flash Flood

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — A businessman and two Glen Echo boys were rescued in Montgomery County late Saturday from flash floods resulting from a violent thunderstorm.

One of the rescued was identified by police as Joseph Richards Jr., about 48, president of the Columbia Specialty Co., Inc. Bethesda rescuers worked 90 minutes in pulling him from his firm's service building, one wall of which collapsed, penning him within the flooded structure.

Searchers believed for half an hour that the two Glen Echo boys had drowned when one of them fell into raging Little Falls Creek and the other jumped in after him.

Finally pulled from a tree into which they had climbed from the water were Randy Sebond, 15, and Michael Vincent, 16.

Ex-Gov. McKeldin Pays Tribute To John Dulles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin paid tribute Sunday to the "magnificent boldness and timely wisdom" of John Foster Dulles.

In a statement issued after the death of the former secretary of state, McKeldin said:

"Few men have left their marks so indelibly in history as has John Foster Dulles. No man of our times has contributed more to the maintenance of an honorable peace. His magnificent boldness and timely wisdom will be seriously missed, but fortunately the foundations that he laid are so firm and the men who were trained under him are so dedicated that his policies of American strength and courage will continue to prevail in our international relations.

"The freedom-loving areas of the world mourn this great man's passing, but all rejoice in the hope and confidence and the sense of justice which are established by his having lived."

Magsaysay Still "Almost Alive"

It wouldn't surprise many friends of the Philippine Republic if August 31 were sometime declared a holiday there. That would place Ramon Magsaysay alongside Jose Rizal as a hero of the islands.

In Filipino minds, Rizal, an M.D., died a martyr's death when in 1896 he was executed for writing and speaking against the Spanish friars and the village dictators called caciques.

From the Philippines, a writer reports that the president who was killed two years ago in a plane accident, is "almost as much alive in the minds of Filipino rural folk as when he strode among them on frequent visits to villages."

In the villages the middle-aged who were young during the Jap occupation tell the stories and doubtless embellish the legends about one of the great Asians of modern times. The tell of the peasant and mechanic who became a guerilla leader in the liberation, then member of congress, then secretary of defense, and finally the third president of the new republic.

In the current Philippine doldrums — by no means a simple matter of economics or nationalism or communist infection — a man of Ramon Magsaysay's stature could be a godsend. In Magsaysay's own Zambales Mountains of Luzon, says the writer, some of the little aboriginal Igorots believe he is still living, only awaiting his chosen time to reappear.

It isn't necessary for Americans to subscribe to that mysticism to agree with Filipinos that Magsaysay's kind of leader may not come again in the Philippines for a hundred years.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

You Never Can Tell

It is not unusual for an able newspaperman to get a scoop, as it is called. Sometimes, it is accidental; sometimes it is due to superior ability. What Lloyd Mallan did in Soviet Russia is not altogether a scoop; it is a statement contradicting all authenticated data on Soviet Russia's production of missiles.

In a brochure issued by Mallan's publisher, there are photographs showing the American writer interviewing Soviet scientists with a recording machine on the table. The brochure says:

"This qualified observer, after 14,000 miles behind the Iron Curtain says:

"1. The Soviet Union's first man-made planet, 'Lunik,' does not exist and never did.

"2. The Russians do not have any ICMBs, the long-distance terror missile with which Khrushchev has threatened this country."

Carl Ruff Associates, a publicity firm, says in a release:

"The Red Air Force is said to be a mighty, almost invincible war machine," Mallan states. "Its striking power is called at least equal to our own Strategic Air Command, if not greater. It is supposed to include countless squadrons of intercontinental, nuclear-armed jet bombers, deadly ground-to-air and air-to-air missiles, supersonic interceptors that form a virtually unbreakable defense wall around the Russian homeland.

"This is a lie."

According to the Associated Press:

"Mallan's stand has been strongly challenged by both U. S. space scientists and military officials. They contend that all available evidence tends to back up Soviet accounts that the Russians succeeded in firing Lunik all the way to the sun."

It is startling that Mallan alone, of all reporters, including science writers, intelligence officers, government officials, should have had the opportunity of interviewing the principal Soviet scientists, with a recording machine on the table. It is startling that these scientists were permitted, in a police state, to disclose to him military secrets which completely contradict the published statements of the Russian government.

To check on these amazing statements, which, if correct, deserve at least a Pulitzer Prize, I made inquiries as to whether Lloyd Mallan is a member of the National Association of Science Writers, which is the journalistic organization of his specialty. I find that, according to the records as of February 1959, he is not a member of this organization.

The only record of a Lloyd Mallan I could find was one born in Pittsburgh on June 27, 1914. His father, Abraham Mallan, was born in Russia; his mother, Elita Sable Mallan, in Titusville, Pennsylvania. In 1937, Lloyd Mallan went to Spain where he was a radio communications officer in the Abraham Lincoln Brigade, the Communist revolutionary force, in which he served from August 1937 to April 1938. He subsequently served in the United States State Department in the Book and Magazine Section in 1951. He has been employed by the "Toledo Blade" and the "Pittsburgh Post-Gazette" and writes for "True" magazine.

This is about all there is to Lloyd Mallan's biography and his preparation for contesting the judgment of Dr. William H. Pickering of the Jet-Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena who, on January 8, 1959, announced that the Lunik was sending signals at short periods at 183 megacycles. The signals were observed to have two tones and that they came from a region west of the moon. On March 3, 1959, Dr. Pickering said definitely that the Russian announcement concerning the Lunik was reliable.

The question then arises as to who was hoaxed, the government of the United States, the American intelligence officers and newsmen stationed in Soviet Russia, the Jet-Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena which records space movements, or Lloyd Mallan?

Frankly, I do not know the answer. If Mallan is right and everybody else wrong, why are we spending all our money to beat the Russians to the moon? If Mallan is wrong, what is his reason for saying:

"The Russians claim to have fired a rocket named Lunik past the moon in January. Last month, I stated that Lunik was a hoax. It never existed. Russian space technology simple isn't capable of pulling off any such feat."

No one in authority in the government of the United States has thus far supported Mallan's statement. Are they all fooled, from President Eisenhower down? Is the CIA fooled? Is the Pentagon fooled? Is every newspaperman in Russia fooled? Or, has Lloyd Mallan been tranquilized?

Foreign Ministers' Conference Proves Futile

By David Lawrence

GENEVA — The hopes of the World have been raised to the point where many people naively believe that a conference either of foreign ministers or of chiefs of state can really settle international disputes. But what happened here Thursday night illustrates the utter impracticability of the method, especially when complex subjects like the security of a continent are under discussion.

For several days formal sessions have been held to no avail. At last the word went around that a dinner was to be given at which only the four foreign ministers and their top aides would sit down together. There would be no taking of notes or recording of things said. It would be what was proclaimed beforehand as a "social" affair. But everybody in town, particularly the newsmen, noted that business suits were to be worn, and it was described by official spokesmen as an "informal" dinner. So great was the interest in the getting together of the four foreign ministers that each delegation let it be known in advance that it really had nothing to offer and didn't seek to put forward any new proposals.

All this means that each side was waiting to let the other take the initiative. Yet what could possibly come out of such a "social" dinner? Certainly the foreign ministers representing Great Britain, France and the United States could not make answer in a chorus to an important question. Not one of them would venture to take a position different from what had been agreed upon before with the others. The net result is the same as the preliminary rounds of a boxing match, when no really hard blows are struck. Unfortunately, even this analogy isn't altogether applicable, because not one of the combatants, figuratively speaking, is authorized without prior consultation to say anything that could be decisive. Diplomacy has its own language of ambiguities, and only when it is reduced to writing can anything be said to be definitive.

The real significance of the latest dinner party was that each side wanted to find out if the other side was ready to make any substantial concessions from the positions taken in the speeches at the formal sessions. Almost two weeks have gone by and the progress of the conference to date is exactly zero. Another week of such aimless discussion will inevitably bring a demand from the public that the conference farce be ended and the problem of negotiating agreements be turned over to the ambassadors who represent the governments at each other's capitals.

One wonders, indeed, why the groundwork for an agreement shouldn't be laid by the regularly assigned diplomats, leaving it to the top ministers of state to get together only if the differences have been narrowed to the point where there is some sign that an agreement is really in sight. But today an uninformed public demands "big four conferences" and meetings at the "summit" in the mistaken belief that this is the way to solve crises. Actually, the cumbersome procedure prevents agreement because, if there is to be any backing down on a single point — even for the purpose of trying out the other side — the change is promptly reported in the press of the world as a retreat, and neither side can afford that kind of publicity.

So it's just a matter of time before the utter futility of the public conference method will be conclusively proved and there will be a return to the private discussions of ambassadors.

There is no good reason why the British, French and American ambassadors couldn't sit down with either the foreign minister or the premier in Moscow or why the Soviet ambassador in Washington couldn't have conferences with the British and French ambassadors and the Secretary of State and the President. The same kind of thing could happen at London or Paris and in the end there would be more progress toward agreement — if, indeed, there is a sincere desire on both sides to reach agreement.

The Nuisances And The Blessings Of Old Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There are several defects that may mar an otherwise healthy old age. Impairment of vision and hearing are the most common. A survey showed that 90 per cent of English people over 65 need glasses, and by age 80, 66 per cent have serious hearing difficulties.

Good feet are important at any age but are needed most by old people. The chances of slipping and falling increase after age 60 and a disturbance in the body's balancing mechanism. This explains why every older should have a night light in the bedroom. When the aged person gets out of bed at night, the change in posture affects circulation to the brain, which in turn leads to dizziness and interferes with balance.

Young girls have more coordination than young boys but the opposite is true in old age. Dizziness is present in 75 per cent of women octogenarians but in only 40 per cent of men of comparable age.

Approximately 90 per cent of all elderly ladies and 65 per cent of elderly men have trouble getting around in the dark, due to a disturbance in the body's balancing mechanism. This explains why every older should have a night light in the bedroom. When the aged person gets out of bed at night, the change in posture affects circulation to the brain, which in turn leads to dizziness and interferes with balance.

Timely political squib from the files of the immortal Will Rogers: "They took me to meet President Harding, and I said, 'Mr. President, I would like to tell you all the latest jokes.'"

"You don't have to, Will," he answered. "I appointed them."

One of Walter Davenport's favorite stories concerned a time that a proud citizen of Charleston, S.C., attending the University of Wisconsin, was dilating upon the splendors of his home town. A Yankee, thinking to put him in his place, asked, "Where is Charleston?"

Turning slowly toward the enemy, the orator replied with dignity, "Charleston, sir, is that untarnished jewel shining regally at the sacred spot where the Ashley and the Cooper join their majestic waters to form the Atlantic Ocean."

A too talkative musician lost out on a very lucrative job. Every time he opened his mouth he put his flute in it.

But most of our senior citizens are happy and enjoy life, especially when healthy. They aim to make the best possible adjustment. Exercise is beneficial and many feel best when active.

L. V. Simmons studied the attitudes and habits of 71 world-wide peoples regarding old age. The majority wanted to live as long as possible and still remain fairly efficient. They wished to safeguard their waning energies and preserve and strengthen their acquired skills. Above all, they craved participation in group affairs. As a final gesture, many were willing to withdraw, when necessity compels, "honorably and comfortably."

Three Textile Senators Acquire Political Pay-Off From Strauss

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The day before the Senate Commerce Committee voted on his confirmation, Secretary of Commerce Lewis Strauss made a political pay-off to three Senators — Pastore of Rhode Island, Thurmond of South Carolina, and Cotton of New Hampshire — who helped salvage his one-vote victory. The pay-off had to do with stricter controls on foreign textiles, especially Japanese.

However, one pay-off backfired so badly that it made John Pastore, the bouncing little Democrat from Rhode Island, hit the ceiling and almost change his mind about voting for Strauss. What made Pastore mad was that Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Republican, not Pastore, Democrat, was permitted to announce the creation of a new governmental textile agency.

The whole inside story illustrates the ruthlessness with which Senate votes are sometimes bartered in a tough confirmation battle, and how such a battle can undermine an administration's foreign policy.

Here are the unrevealed highlights:

1. Because U.S. military bases in Japan are so important, the Eisenhower administration has refused to put mandatory controls on Japanese textiles. Instead, Japan itself has imposed voluntary controls. Such a policy has been urged by the State and Defense Departments in order to keep Japan an active free-world ally in the cold war against Red China.

2. Because Admiral Strauss's confirmation as Secretary of Commerce is personally important to Strauss and politically important to Eisenhower, the White House agreed to a special agency to investigate textile imports, with expected stricter controls on Japanese products later.

3. Ex-Gov. Tom Dewey of New York, former GOP candidate for president, accepted a fee of $100,000 a year to push Japanese textiles in the United States. Dewey is the man primarily responsible for nominating Eisenhower in 1952, and still has great influence at the White House. Dewey, incidentally, accepted the fee one day after the White House announced formation of the special agency on textiles.

Therefore two prominent Republicans, Dewey and Strauss, will be battling on opposite sides of the textile fence.

Backstage Buttonholing

Admiral Strauss's backstage buttonholing among textile Senators began some time ago. It was aided by certain big textile firms, notably Burlington Industries of North Carolina. In the middle of the Senate hearings over his confirmation, Strauss took a quick trip to Greensboro, N.C., to address a textile meeting where Spencer Love, chairman of Burlington Industries, called the Senate hearings an unwarranted "political vendetta."

Prior to that, Strauss dropped in on Senator Thurmond to talk textiles, told how he began his business career as a salesman in the Carolinas, how he had used his influence to get mandatory controls on oil imports into the United States. The implication was that he would do the same for the textile industry.

Senator Thurmond complained that the textile recession had hit South Carolina hard, said textile mills constituted 75 per cent of South Carolina's industry, that the Defense Department considered textiles second only to steel in terms of military essentiality.

At about the same time, Strauss had promised the three textile Senators on the Commerce Committee that he would do his best to establish their proposed interagency board to consider the problem of textiles. This, however, was opposed by the State Department and by President Eisenhower who feared such a board would be like waving a red flag at Japan.

When a group of New England governors called on Ike to urge such a board, the President turned thumbs down. Such a board, he told Gov. Christopher del Seastro of Rhode Island, would establish a wrong precedent.

Wrong Announcer

However, as the time approached for the Commerce Committee vote on Strauss's nomination, the President began to shift.

The committee vote was due May 19. On May 18, Under Secretary of Commerce Fred Mueller, right-hand man to Strauss, went to the White House. The votes of two textile Senators, Pastore of Rhode Island and Thurmond of South Carolina, next day were essential. Cotton of New Hampshire, a Republican, would vote for Strauss anyway. But the two Democratic textile votes meant the difference between total defeat or partial victory.

So Mueller came back with a White House OK for the political pay-off.

Next morning, just before the Senate committee voted, Senator Pastore read in the newspapers that the special textile committee was to be formed. This was what he had been working on for a long time. But Pastore was not pleased. Quite the opposite. He almost hit the ceiling.

Fho who should make the announcement but a Republican — Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts. The White House, knowing Salty is up for a tough re-election fight next year, had given the announcement to him.

The bounding little Senator from Rhode Island finally curbed his resentment and went into committee to vote for Strauss. If he's confirmed, the textile Senators expect big things from Strauss in the way of textile controls. But there'll be quite a battle between Republican Strauss and Republican Tom Dewey before it's all over.

All Spring long, the actors have been pinning awards on one another. Hollywood has been giving itself Oscars; the television industry has bestowed Emmies on itself; the legitimate theatre gives itself drama critic awards — and so on. No one has asked you what you do not like about movies, television and radio.

I will. Have you ever read an advertisement in your newspaper which told you that you simply must go to see a certain picture because it is the biggest, best, wildest, most intense ten million dollar motion picture ever filmed? You go, and for two hours you sit and seethe. Have you been seduced by publicity which says that a certain actress, in her newest picture "Bares her soul," and you go, and find, to your disappointment, that she can't even seem to bare her teeth?

This is your chance. Your golden opportunity. All you have to do is to mail your candidates for the worst to me. A postcard will do. Mail it to me at Sea Bright, New Jersey. Those who are chosen worst actor, actress, singer, etc., will receive inscribed copies of my biggest flop book.

It is called The Golden Ham and is a biography of Jackie Gleason. By a unique coincidence I happen to have three or four thousand copies of this literary gem in the cellar. The winners may have a little trouble getting the pages apart, but it is not a book to be read, in any case. It's a book for holding up the fourth leg of a dining room table.

Gleason, who, like the late Agatha Khan, gets his weight in diamonds annually from CBS, is now on a self-imposed retreat. He broods in Toots Shor's old restaurant. He read the book.

You can, if you please, vote in the following categories:

1. The Worst Movie Actor.
2. The Worst Movie Actress.
3. The Worst Movie.
4. The Worst Television Actor.
5. The Worst Television Actress.

6. The Worst Television Show.
7. The Worst Radio Actor.
8. The Worst Radio Actress.
9. The Worst Radio Show.
10. The Worst Singer.

You don't have to vote in all categories. Pick the ones you can't stand, and write them down. You don't have to send anything. When all the returns are in, I will scatter the mail on the living room floor and ask one of my toothless dogs to select one.

Whatever card or letter is picked up, the sender will receive a copy of each of the books I have written—with the exception of The Glass Crutch, which cannot be found anywhere—and these will be mailed out promptly. (Ed. note: Jim means it.) The winner doesn't even have to read them. All he has to do is take them from the mailman and carry them into his own cellar.

Have you ever ached to have a copy of—yeah. Neither have I. Who knows? You might be unlucky enough to have my mutt pick your card out of the pile. The trick, of course, is to get it from him before he clutches it between his paws, tilts his head, and starts chewing.

Both Rocky and Duke are black police dogs. Rocky will do the picking because he is a little slower than Duke. Duke has long, sharp teeth. In the afternoon, he works at the Walter Reade Theatres punching holes in passes. All evening long, he is home punching holes in people who ring my doorbell.

Rocky will not have to be blindfolded before picking the winner because he is a poor reader anyway. The only sign of literary perspicacity he has shown in two years was the night he picked volume 13 of the Encyclopedia Britannica and chewed the corners off it. In the morning, I chewed the corners off him.

My secretary, Fearless Flo, says I am afraid to include writers in the Worst Contest because I am naturally shy . . .

Magsaysay Still "Almost Alive"

It wouldn't surprise many friends of the Philippine Republic if August 31 were sometime declared a holiday there. That would place Ramon Magsaysay alongside Jose Rizal as a hero of the islands.

In Filipino minds, Rizal, an M.D., died a martyr's death when in 1896 he was executed for writing and speaking against the Spanish friars and the village dictators called caciques.

From the Philippines, a writer reports that the president who was killed two years ago in a plane accident, is "almost as much alive in the minds of Filipino rural folk as when he strode among them on frequent visits to villages."

In the villages the middle-aged who were young during the Jap occupation tell the stories and doubtless embellish the legends about one of the great Asians of modern times. The tell of the peasant and mechanic who became a guerilla leader in the liberation, then member of congress, then secretary of defense, and finally the third president of the new republic.

In the current Philippine doldrums — by no means a simple matter of economics or nationalism or communist infection — a man of Ramon Magsaysay's stature could be a godsend. In Magsaysay's own Zambales Mountains of Luzon, says the writer, some of the little aboriginal Igorots believe he is still living, only awaiting his chosen time to reappear.

It isn't necessary for Americans to subscribe to that mysticism to agree with Filipinos that Magsaysay's kind of leader may not come again in the Philippines for a hundred years.

You Never Can Tell

It's not unusual for an able newspaperman to get a scoop, as it is called. Sometimes, it is accidental; sometimes it is due to superior ability. What Lloyd Mallan did in Soviet Russia is not altogether a scoop; it is a statement contradicting all authenticated data on Soviet Russia's production of missiles.

In a brochure issued by Mallan's publisher, there are photographs showing the American writer interviewing Soviet scientists with a recording machine on the table. The brochure says:

"This qualified observer, after 14,000 miles behind the Iron Curtain says:

"1. The Soviet Union's first man-made planet, 'Lunik,' does not exist and never did.

"2. The Russians do not have any ICMBs, the long-distance terror missile with which Khrushchev has threatened this country."

Carl Ruff Associates, a publicity firm, says in a release:

"The Red Air Force is said to be a mighty, almost invincible war machine," Mallan states. "Its striking power is called at least equal to our own Strategic Air Command, if not greater. It is supposed to include countless squadrons of intercontinental, nuclear-armed jet bombers, deadly ground-to-air and air-to-air missiles, supersonic interceptors that form a virtually unbreakable defense wall around the Russian homeland.

"This is a lie."

According to the Associated Press:

"Mallan's stand has been strongly challenged by both U. S. space scientists and military officials. They contend that all available evidence tends to back up Soviet accounts that the Russians succeeded in firing Lunik all the way to the sun."

It is startling that Mallan alone, of all reporters, including science writers, intelligence officers, government officials, should have had the opportunity of interviewing the principal Soviet scientists, with a recording machine on the table. It is startling that these scientists were permitted, in a police state, to disclose to him military secrets which completely contradict the published statements of the Russian government.

The only record of a Lloyd Mallan I could find was one born in Pittsburgh on June 27, 1914. His father, Abraham Mallan, was born in Russia; his mother, Etta Sable Mallan, in Titusville, Pennsylvania. Unhappily, the spectacular setting here and the organized propaganda devices merely emphasize that neither side can afford to "negotiate" or "compromise," and the end result must be failure.

The peace of the world is too important in the life of all peoples to remain unsettled for a lack of a method of talking things over. The old way — practiced long before the propaganda instruments of today were invented — was a far better means of achieving some kind of equilibrium in the world. The only defect in the historic process was that conclusions were kept secret even after the conferences were finished. Public opinion today rightly demands the revelation of any agreements reached.

In the middle of the Senate hearings over his confirmation, Strauss took a quick trip to Greensboro, N.C., to address a textile meeting where Spencer Love, chairman of Burlington Industries, called the Senate hearings an unwarranted "political vendetta."

Prior to that, Strauss dropped in on Senator Thurmond to talk textiles, told how he began his business career as a salesman in the Carolinas, how he had used his influence to get mandatory controls on oil imports into the United States. The implication was that he would do the same for the textile industry.

Senator Thurmond complained that the textile recession had hit South Carolina hard, said textile mills constituted 75 per cent of South Carolina's industry, that the Defense Department considered textiles second only to steel in terms of military essentiality.

At about the same time, Strauss had promised the three textile Senators on the Commerce Committee that he would do his best to establish their proposed interagency board to consider the problem of textiles. This, however, was opposed by the State Department and by President Eisenhower who feared such a board would be like waving a red flag at Japan.

When a group of New England governors called on Ike to urge such a board, the President turned thumbs down. Such a board, he told Gov. Christopher del Sesto of Rhode Island, would establish a wrong precedent.

Wrong Announcer

However, as the time approached for the Commerce Committee vote on Strauss's nomination, the President began to shift.

The committee vote was due May 19. On May 18, Under Secretary of Commerce Fred Mueller, right-hand man to Strauss, went to the White House. The votes of two textile Senators, Pastore of Rhode Island and Thurmond of South Carolina, next day were essential. Cotton of New Hampshire, a Republican, would vote for Strauss anyway. But the two Democratic textile votes meant the difference between total defeat or partial victory.

So Mueller came back with a White House OK for the political pay-off.

Next morning, just before the Senate committee voted, Senator Pastore read in the newspapers that the special textile committee was to be formed. This was what he had been working on for a long time. But Pastore was not pleased. Quite the opposite. He almost hit the ceiling.

Who should make the announcement but a Republican — Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts. The White House, knowing Salty is up for a tough re-election fight next year, had given the announcement to him.

The bounding little Senator from Rhode Island finally curbed his resentment and went into committee to vote for Strauss. If he's confirmed, the textile Senators expect big things from Strauss in the way of textile controls. But there'll be quite a battle between Republican Strauss and Republican Tom Dewey before it's all over.

All Spring long, the actors have been pinning awards on one another. Hollywood has been giving itself Oscars; the television industry has bestowed Emmies on itself; the legitimate theatre gives itself drama critic awards — and so on. No one has asked you what you do not like about movies, television and radio.

I will. Have you ever read an advertisement in your newspaper which told you that you simply must go to see a certain picture because it is the biggest, best, wildest, most intense ten million dollar motion picture ever filmed? You go, and for two hours you sit and seethe. Have you been seduced by publicity which says that a certain actress, in her newest picture "Bares her soul," and you go, and find, to your disappointment, that she can't even seem to bare her teeth?

This is your chance. Your golden opportunity. All you have to do is to mail your candidates for the worst to me. A postcard will do. Mail it to me at Sea Bright, New Jersey. Those who are chosen worst actor, actress, singer, etc., will receive inscribed copies of my biggest flop book.

It is called The Golden Ham and is a biography of Jackie Gleason. By a unique coincidence I happen to have three or four thousand copies of this literary gem in the cellar. The winners may have a little trouble getting the pages apart, but it is not a book to be read, in any case. It's a book for holding up the fourth leg of a dining room table.

Gleason, who, like the late Aga Khan, gets his weight in diamonds annually from CBS, is now on a self-imposed retreat. He broods in Toots Shor's old restaurant. He reads the book.

You can, if you please, vote in the following categories:

1. The Worst Movie Actor.
2. The Worst Movie Actress.
3. The Worst Movie.
4. The Worst Television Actor.
5. The Worst Television Actress.

6. The Worst Television Show.
7. The Worst Radio Actor.
8. The Worst Radio Actress.
9. The Worst Radio Show.
10. The Worst Singer.

You don't have to vote in all categories. Pick the ones you can't stand, and write them down. You don't have to send anything. When all the returns are in, I will scatter the mail on the living room floor and ask one of my toothless dogs to select one.

Whatever card or letter is picked up, the sender will receive a copy of each of the books I have written — with the exception of The Glass Crucifix, which cannot be found anywhere — and these will be mailed out promptly. (Ed. note: Jim means it.) The winner doesn't even have to read them. All he has to do is take them from the mailman and carry them into his own cellar.

Have you ever ached to have a copy of — yeah. Neither have I. Who knows? You might be unlucky enough to have my mutt pick your card out of the pile. The trick, of course, is to get it from him before he clutches it between his paws, tilts his head, and starts chewing.

Both Rocky and Duke are black police dogs. Rocky will do the picking because he is a little slower than Duke. Duke has long, sharp teeth. In the afternoon, he works at the Walter Reade Theatres punching holes in passes. All evening long, he is home punching holes in people who ring my doorbell.

Rocky will not have to be blinded before picking the winner because he is a poor reader anyway. The only sign of literary perspicacity he has shown in two years was the night he picked volume 13 of the Encyclopedia Britannica and chewed the corners off it. In the morning, I chewed the corners off him.

My secretary, Fearless Flo, says I am afraid to include writers in the Worst Contest because I am naturally shy . . .

The Nuisances And The Blessings Of Old Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

There are several defects that may mar an otherwise healthy old age. Impairment of vision and hearing are the most common. A survey showed that 90 per cent of English people over 65 need glasses, and by age 80, 66 per cent have serious hearing difficulties.

Good feet are important at any age but are needed most by old age. The chances of slipping and falling increase after age 60 and zoom by the eighties. Disturbances in gait and hightheadness from poor circulation to the brain are the usual causes of falls.

Young girls have more coordination than young boys but the opposite is true in old age. Dizziness is present in 75 per cent of women octogenarians but in only 40 per cent of men of comparable age.

Approximately 90 per cent of all elderly ladies and 65 per cent of elderly men have trouble getting around in the dark, due to a disturbance in the body's balancing mechanism. This explains why every oldster should have a night light in the bedroom. When the aged person gets out of bed at night, the change in posture affects circulation to the brain, which in turn leads to dizziness and interferes with balance.

But most of our senior citizens are happy and enjoy life, especially when healthy. They aim to make the best possible adjustment. Exercise is beneficial and many feel best when active.

L. W. Simmons studied the attitudes and habits of 71 world-wide people regarding old age. The majority wanted to live as long as possible and still remain fairly efficient. They wished to safeguard their waning energies and preserve and strengthen their acquired skills. Above all, they craved participation in group affairs. As a final gesture, many were willing to withdraw, when necessity compels, "honorably and comfortably."

Pinch Hitters Power Pittsburgh To Pair Of Victories

Buccos Win Over Cincy, 2-1 And 5-4

Kravitz, Burgess Deliver Doubles To Sew Up Games

By RUDY CERNOVIC
By United Press International

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A pair of pinch-swinging catchers delivered climactic doubles Sunday to power the Pittsburgh Pirates to a doubleheader victory over the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1 and 5-4.

Smoky Burgess slammed a two-bagger to left with Roman Mejias on base and two out in the tenth inning for the nightcap victory. Danny Kravitz smashed his double with one in the ninth for the Pirates' sixth win since he was traded to the Reds.

The Pirates swept a four-game series from the Reds, and extended their victory string to five, their longest of the season. The winning blow in the nightcap came off Bob Purkey, who relieved in the ninth and suffered his first defeat at the hands of his teammates. He had beaten the Pirates six times since he was traded to the Reds.

Blackburn Wins First

The victory went to Ron Blackburn, his first of the season. Bob Friend tried valiantly for his eighth win after seven defeats and even got three hits in as many times at bat but was lifted in the eighth for a pinchhitter after yielding all the Redleg runs.

The Pirates banged out a total of 14 hits in the second game and 10 in the first to achieve their first doubleheader victory of the season.

They got two quick runs in the first inning of the nightcap but were held scoreless until Rocky Nelson punched a two-run homer in the ninth to tie the count.

The Redlegs, limited to five singles by Ron Kline in the opener rebounded with five extra base hits blows of 10 safeties in the nightcap.

McMillan Ties Score

Roy McMillan delivered a two-run triple in the second to tie the score. The Reds went ahead in the sixth on Jerry Lynch's double and Dutch Dotterer's single. The long ball gave them their final run in the seventh when Johnny Temple tripled and Vada Pinson doubled.

In the first game, loser Brooks Lawrence held the Pirates scoreless through eight innings. Bill Mazeroski and Don Hoak hit back-to-back singles and pinch-hitter Ted Kluszewski drove in Maz on a fielder's choice. Then Kravitz delivered his key blow.

The Redlegs were also scoreless until the ninth when they registered an unearned tally on Frank Robinson's sacrifice fly which enabled Temple to score. He had reached first on Dick Schofield's error.

The Pirates swept all four games of the series by one-run margins. The Pirates have now won 13 of 18 one-run decisions and have taken all four extra inning games they have played.

Walker Halts Yanks, 2-1, After Orioles Lose, 9-0

Triandos Home Run Wins 2nd; N.Y. Hits 4 Round-Trippers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The New York Yankees flashed in uniform as of old for a 9-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Sunday only to sputter against the powerful pitching of undefeated 2-year-old Jerry Walker who stopped them 2-1.

The doubleheader split left the Yankees in last place in the American League. Seventh-place Detroit also split with the Orioles, who won 2-1 and lost 9-0.

Norm Siebern's fourth homer in the seventh inning saved the Yankees from a shutout by Walker, who was winning his fourth this season and fifth in the majors without a loss.

Walker's battery mate, Gus Triandos, socked his 10th homer in the fourth to provide the winning margin. Former Yankee Gene Woodling singled in the first Oriole run in the previous inning.

The Yankees, who had blasted 15 hits including three homers to take the first game behind the two-hit hurling of Whitey Ford, managed only five off Walker, two of them by Yogi Berra.

Mantle, Berra and Elston Howard hit the Yankees homers in the first game.

Manager Casey Stengel, trying to break his Yankees of their unaccustomed cellar position, had them omit batting practice for the second straight day.

Hammer's Single Decides; Tigers Take Second, 6-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Granny Hamner's ninth inning single scored Carroll Hardy from second base to give the Cleveland Indians a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the first game of a doubleheader Sunday. Frank Lary and Dave Sisler pitched Detroit to a 6-3 triumph in the nightcap.

The second game victory was the fifth in eight decisions for Lary, who was relieved by Sisler in the bottom of the ninth with the bases loaded and nobody out.

Detroit, rightfielder Harvey Kuenn got three singles in five trips to the plate in the opener and two singles in four times at bat in the second game.

The Tigers scored five of their runs in the nightcap off veteran right-hander Mike Garcia, who was lifted after five innings in losing his third straight game. He has no wins.

Southpaw Herb Score struck out 10 batters in winning his fifth game against two losses in the opener. He gave up five hits and walked seven.

Salisbury Cops 6th In Row, Flintstone Snaps Loss String

Centerville Beaten, 12-1, By Cardinals

Farmers Conquer Grantsville, 7-1; Hyndman Triumphs

PEN-MAR LEAGUE
Standing Of The Teams

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Hyndman	1	1	.500
Salisbury	6	2	.750
Barrelville	5	2	.714
Mt. Savage	4	4	.500
Centerville	3	4	.429
Grantsville	3	4	.429
Flintstone	1	6	.143
Wellsburg	1	6	.143

Hyndman's Merchants retained first place by a half game by walling Mt. Savage, 14-5, the Salisbury Cardinals extended their winning streak to six games by clobbering the Centerville Reds, 12-1. Flintstone's Farmers broke a two-year losing streak of 15 games by spilling the Grantsville Sluggers, 7-1, and Barrelville edged Wellsburg, 3-2, in Pen-Mar Baseball League games staged yesterday at Hyndman, Salisbury, Flintstone and Barrelville.

Manager Gene Stair's front-running Merchants scored in every inning but the sixth in romping to victory over the Mt. Savage Old Germans and cracking the latter's winning streak at four games.

Hyndman jumped on George Bishields for 11 hits before he was relieved in the 7th by Norris and finished up with a total of 14 safeties at the expense of three hurlers.

Clay Leydig Hits Pair

Ray Morgart collected three hits in six trips, Lou Hite banged a triple and double and third baseman Clay Leydig belted two homers over the fence in left-center. Clay poled a solo homer in the 7th and smashed his second four-bagger in the 8th with two mates aboard. Junior Bagley and Bob Bryant also figured in the attack with a pair of singles each. Three Mt. Savage pitchers failed to strike out a Hyndman batter.

Jim Leydig notched his second win of the season for Hyndman, yielding nine hits while his strike-out victims totaled nine.

Regis Fair of Mt. Savage hit a solo homer over the left field barrier in the 7th and also had a double and single to his credit in five official trips. Rich Lybarger and Fay Otten garnered two hits each while Jack Lowery, the Old G's third sacker, featured a field with a nifty catch of a line drive from the bat of Bob Cook.

Manager Charles Doyle's Flintstone team, winless since July 19, 1958 when it gained a forfeit decision over Mt. Savage, shook off a season losing streak of six games and a two-year string of 15 by trimming the Sluggers from Garrett county.

Jim Fletcher ended the famine when he limited Grantsville to two hits, a single by Perry and a double by Jim Keister, and struck out five.

Richards Whiffs 13

A five-run rally in the second inning at the expense of Glenn Ford settled the issue. Dave Richards, who supplanted Ford, struck out 13 in 7 1/2 innings but Grantsville scored only one run for him.

Ray Redinger collected two hits and Jim Hammond and Dwight Morris smashed two-baggers for the Farmers.

Carey Stops Centerville

Salisbury hammered the offerings of three Centerville pitchers for 14 hits and easily whipped the Reds while Don Carey was turning back the Bedford countians with four safeties. The Cardinals' hurler fanned six, walked four and chalked up his second straight victory of the campaign.

Don Lowery garnered three hits, Gordon Oester homered with one aboard, Fred Harris, Carey and Ken Lowery obtained two hits each and Jimmy Brown and Don Miller pounded two-baggers for the second place club managed by Patsy Tuscano.

Centerville was charged with committing eleven errors. Dwight Rose accounted for two of the Reds' four safeties.

Raines Notches Third

Barrelville remained in third place, one game off the pace, by taking a close battle from Wellsburg.

Bobby Raines got credit for his third win against one loss, leaving the game in the sixth in favor of Bobby Dawson, who finished the game. Raines struck out eight and Dawson fanned five. The pair held Wellsburg to five hits.

Dorcil Kline obtained two of the six hits yielded by Ronnie Neubeiser and drove in what proved to be the deciding tally in the 7th inning.

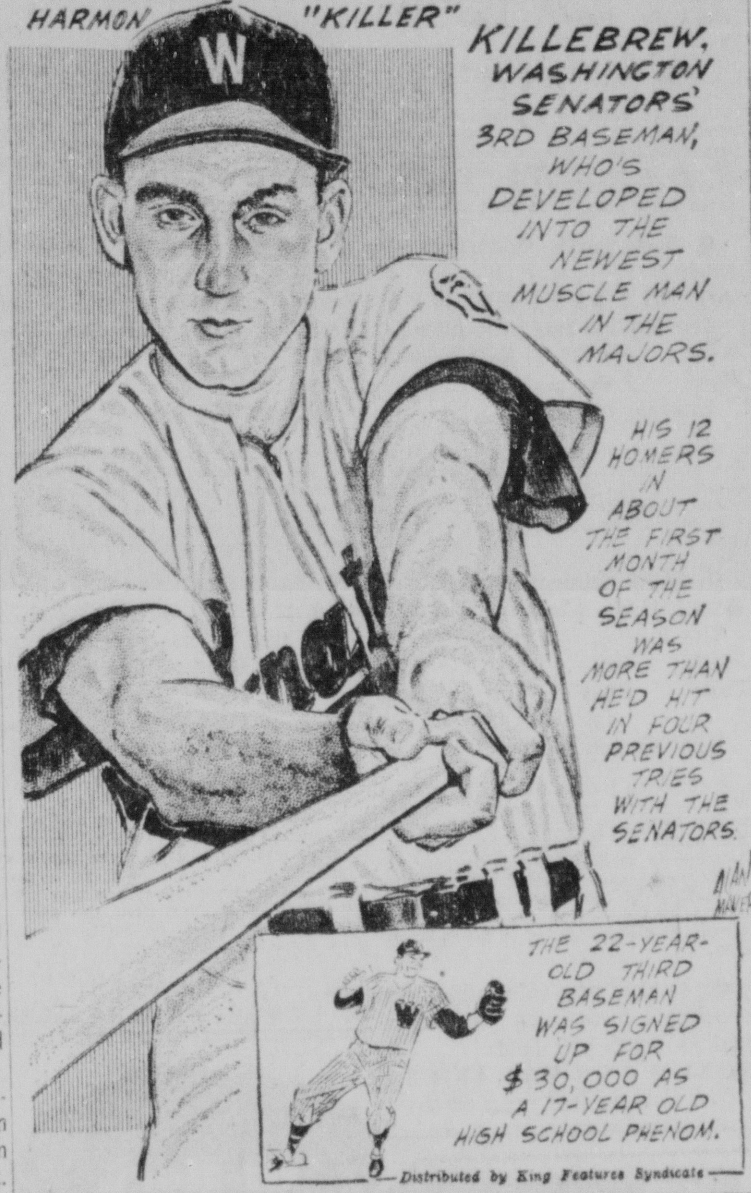

Socks Pinch Homer

Kerr Kennell, pinch-hitting for McKenney in the top of the 9th, lit an inside-the-park homer for Wellsburg. Neubeiser and Bob Cessa had two hits each for the losers.

22 Americans Enter British Amateur Golf

6th Tournament Will Open Today

SANDWICH, England (AP)—The 64th British Amateur Golf championship, which is nearly one-eighth American, opens Monday with good prospects of having an all-American final.

The narrow, 6,728-yard Royal St. George's course, stage for the British championship, is far from being the kind of course the Americans prefer. Its fairways are too narrow and the rough too deep for their taste. But the Americans are so adaptable and are playing so well that at least four of them are expected to reach the quarter-finals and two can go all the way.

Six members of the U.S. Walker Cup team that beat Britain's best amateurs 9-3 at Muirfield May 16 are entered for the British championship. Sixteen other Americans also are here—either direct from the states or from Army and Air Force bases in Europe.

Charles Coe, the U.S. Walker Cup captain from Oklahoma City, will be playing to win the greatest distinction in amateur golf. The putter-thin Oklahoma already holds the American amateur title. If he wins here Saturday, he will be the first man to hold the world's two top amateur championships since Lawson Little in 1935.

The trick has been turned only two other times—by Bob Jones in 1939 and Harold Hilton in 1911. Hilton was the only Briton ever to win the American title.

Britain's top favorite in the 200-man field is Joe Carr, the defending champion from Dublin. He defeated Coe and Muirfield and since they are in opposite halves of the draw, they could meet again.

Edward Schroff, 70, one-time Cumberland Colts' pitcher, died Saturday at his home in LaGrange, Indiana, according to a telegram received yesterday by Mrs. George Curtis Beckwith, 425 Independence street.

Mr. Schroff pitched for the Colts when Col. Nelson Russler managed the local team at South End Park about 1913. Among Schroff's teammates were Jesse "Lefty" Bell, Ralph Clark, Joe Becker, George "Brindle" Long, Heinie Huffman, Raymond "Ike" Law and George C. "Kirk" Beckwith, who was a battery-mate of Schroff.

A native of Lucas, Ohio, Mr. Schroff resided on North Mechanic street before the family moved from Cumberland to Ohio about 35 years ago.

Surviving are three children at Fort Wayne, Ind., May Schroff Hatch and James and Richard Schroff.

Mr. Schroff has been a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, since the days he resided here.

Kelley Cops Marathon

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—John J. Kelley of the Boston Athletic Assn. won his fourth straight national AAU marathon championship Sunday. He is the first runner ever to win the title four times.

Kelley completed the 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 21 minutes, 54.4 seconds and finished more than a mile in front of two Boston A.A. teammates.

James Green of the BAA was second in 2:29:51 and Anthony Sapeinza of the BAA was third in 2:36:14.

33 Drivers Qualify For Auto Race

Maserati, Novis Fail At Trials

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
By United Press International

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Four days of qualification for the 500-mile Speedway auto race ended late Sunday with the 33 starters in next Saturday's Memorial Day classic averaging a speed of 143.004 miles per hour.

Fifteen cars completed their 10-mile trial runs Sunday but three were too slow to gain a starting spot and two others were bumped earlier.

The field average compared with last year's 143.445 mph, and the slowest qualifier this time, rookie Jim McWhitney, Anderson, Ind., squeaked into the lineup at a clip of 141.215.

Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore., the fastest qualifier Sunday at 143.244, was the slowest in last year's field at 142.253.

Maserati Eliminated

Other final day qualifiers were Don Freeland, Indianapolis, 143.036; rookie Red Amick, Muncie, Ind., 142.925; Paul Russo, Webster Groves, Mo., 142.383; Al Keller, Green Acres, Fla., 142.057; Chuck Weyant, Springfield, Ill., 141.950; Bill Cheesbourg, Tombstone, Ariz., 141.788; Mike MacGill, Haddonfield, N. J., 141.482; and Ray Crawford, Pasadena, Calif., 143.348.

MacGill bumped a car qualified by Rex Easton, Springfield, Ill., at 139.438 mph, and Crawford eliminated the Italian-made Maserati, the only foreign car entered, which was qualified at 136.534 by Ralph Liguori, Tampa, Fla.

Three cars were left at the starting apron without chance to qualify as time ran out.

The busiest driver attempting to crash the line-up was Shorty Templeman of Seattle, Wash., who tried out four different cars with no success.

The much-publicized Novis also were left at the pole. Dempsey Wilson tried to put one of the powerful creations into the field, but was flagged from the course when he averaged only 134 mph on his first lap. The other Novis was supposed to have been driven by Russo, but mechanical difficulties fouled it up and Russo found another ride.

The fastest qualifier of the 33-car field was Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa., who won the pole position on the first day of time trials with an average of 145.008, and who smashed the one-lap record in the process.

Berkeley Springs Tops Keyser, Wins Regional Honors

Coach Allen Goldstrom's Berkeley Springs High School Indians won the West Virginia Region 4 baseball championship on Saturday by defeating the previously unbeaten Keyser High School trossers at Keyser by the score of 2-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Gary Henry, who decideded Ralph Wimer.

Dave Wilson (6-0), who pitched the last four innings for Keyser, failed to yield a hit or a run. Wimer gave up two runs and three hits.

Berkeley Springs will next face Philippi in a game for area honors and four area winners will vie at Parkersburg this weekend for the state championship.

Keyser, PVC champion, wound up the season with a 10-1 record. Berkeley has a 9-1 record and owns a five-game winning streak.

In other area games, Parkersburg plays Weirton, Montgomery faces Princeton and East Bank does battle with Huntington.

Bahen Heads Swat Race As Season Nears Close

LaSalle's Catcher Hits .538; Morris Is 2nd With .513

Jack Bahen, LaSalle High School catcher, has taken over the batting leadership of the Allegany County High School Baseball League with an average of .538 as the teams swing into the final week of the campaign.

Bahen is the fourth player to hold the lead in the past month. Don Lowery of Mt. Savage, was the leader for the first four games with .667, Ronnie Broadwater of Bruce was next with .500, and Leroy Morris of Mt. Savage headed the loop for the season draws to a close.

Three games last week Bahen garnered 10 hits in 11 official trips for a .909 mark and moved ahead of Morris who now is the runner-up with .513. Each player has two more games before the season draws to a close.

"Tippy" Metts, of Valley High, occupies third place at the present time with an average of .487 while Broadwater is fourth with .486.

Bahen not only has the highest average in the league but he has more hits than any other player — a total of 21 in 39 official trips for a total of 38 bases. Nine of his 21 blows have gone for extra bases — three homers, two triples and four two-baggers.

Heading the pitching parade at the present time are Johnny Price, of Fort Hill, and Ron Cook, of Mt. Savage, with 4-0 records. Charley Rice, of LaSalle, is the runner-up with 4-1, followed by Jack Lowery, Mt. Savage, 3-1, and George Lauder, Valley, 3-2, .363, respectively.

Gets 20-Inch Trout

Thomas Raines, of 504 Decatur street, caught a brown trout, 20 inches long yesterday in Wills Creek in the east end of The Narrows last evening at 8 o'clock. It weighed three pounds.

Salisbury Cops 6th in Row, Flintstone Snaps Loss String

Centerville Beaten, 12-1, By Cardinals

Farmers Conquer Grantsville, 7-1; Hyndman Triumphs

PEN MAR LEAGUE
Standing of the Teams

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Hyndman	6	2	.750
Salisbury	5	3	.625
Barrelville	3	5	.375
Mt. Savage	4	4	.500
Centerville	3	4	.429
Grantsville	3	4	.429
Flintstone	1	6	.143
Wellsburg	1	6	.143

Hyndman's Merchants retained first place by a half game by walloping Mt. Savage, 14-5, the Salisbury Cardinals extended their winning streak to six games by clobbering the Centerville Reds, 12-1, Flintstone's Farmers broke a two-year losing streak of 15 games by spilling the Grantsville Sluggers, 7-1, and Barrelville edged Wellsburg, 3-2, in Pen-Mar Baseball League games staged yesterday at Hyndman, Salisbury, Flintstone and Barrelville.

Manager Gene Stair's front-running Merchants scored in every inning but the sixth in romping to victory over the Mt. Savage Old Germans and cracking the latter's winning streak at four games.

Hyndman jumped on George Bishields for 11 hits before he was relieved in the 7th by Norris and finished up with a total of 14 safeties at the expense of three hurlers.

Clay Leydig Hits Pair

Ray Morgart collected three hits in six trips, Lou Hite banged a triple and double and third baseman Clay Leydig belted two homers over the fence in left-center. Clay poked a solo homer in the 7th and smashed his second four-bagger in the 8th with two mates aboard. Junior Bagley and Bob Bryant also figured in the attack with a pair of singles each. Three Mt. Savage pitchers failed to strike out a Hyndman batter.

Jim Leydig notched his second win of the season for Hyndman, yielding nine hits while his strike-out victims totaled nine.

Regis Pair of Mt. Savage hit a solo homer over the left field barrier in the 7th and also had a double and single to his credit in five official trips. Rich Lybarger and Fay often garnered two hits each while Jack Lowery, the Old G's third sacker, featured a field with a nifty catch of a line drive from the bat of Bob Cook.

Manager Charles Doyle's Flintstone team, winless since July 19, 1958 when it gained a forfeit decision over Mt. Savage, shook off a season losing streak of six games and a two-year string of 15 by trimming the Sluggers from Garrett county.

Jim Fletcher ended the famine when he limited Grantsville to two hits, a single by Perry and a double by Jim Keister, and struck out five.

Richards Whiffs 13

A five-run rally in the second inning at the expense of Glenn Ford settled the issue. Dave Richards, who supplanted Ford, struck out 13 in 7 1/2 innings but Grantsville scored only one run for him.

Ray Redinger Collected Two Hits and Jim Hammond and Dwight Morris smashed two-baggers for the Farmers.

Carey Stops Centerville

Salisbury hammered the offerings of three Centerville pitchers for 14 hits and easily whipped the Reds while Don Carey was turning back the Bedford countians with four safeties. The Cardinals' hurler fanned six, walked four and chalked up his second straight victory of the campaign.

Don Lowery garnered three hits, Gordon Oester homered with one aboard, Fred Harris, Carey and Ken Lowery obtained two hits each and Jimmy Brown and Don Miller pounded two-baggers for the second place club managed by Patsy Tuscano.

Centerville was charged with committing eleven errors. Dwight Rose accounted for two of the Reds' four safeties.

Raines Notches Third

Barrelville remained in third place, one game off the pace, by taking a close battle from Wellsburg.

22 Americans Enter British Amateur Golf

6th Tournament Will Open Today

SANDWICH, England (AP)—The 64th British Amateur Golf championship, which is nearly one-eighth American, opens Monday with good prospects of having an all-American final.

The narrow, 6,728-yard Royal St. George's course, stage for the British championship, is far from being the kind of course the Americans prefer. Its fairways are too narrow and the rough too deep for their taste. But the Americans are so adaptable and are playing so well that at least four of them are expected to reach the quarter-finals and two can go all the way.

Six members of the U.S. Walker Cup team that beat Britain's best amateurs 9-3 at Muirfield May 16 are entered for the British championship. Sixteen other Americans also are here—either direct from the states or from Army and Air Force bases in Europe.

Charles Coe, the U.S. Walker Cup captain from Oklahoma City, will be playing to win the greatest distinction in amateur golf. The putter-thin Oklahoman already holds the American amateur title. If he wins here Saturday, he will be the first man to hold the world's two top amateur championships since Lawson Little in 1935.

The trick has been turned only two other times—by Bob Jones in 1939 and Harold Hilton in 1911. Hilton was the only Briton ever to win the American title.

Britain's top favorite in the 200-man field is Joe Carr, the defending champion from Dublin. He defeated Coe and Muirfield and since they are in opposite halves of the draw, they could meet again.

Edward Schroff, 70, Former Cumberland Ballplayer, Dies

Edward Schroff, 70, one-time Cumberland Colts' pitcher, died Saturday at his home in LaGrange, Indiana, according to a telegram received yesterday by Mrs. George Curtis Beckwith, 425 Independence Street.

Mr. Schroff pitched for the Colts when Col. Nelson Russell managed the local team at South End Park about 1913. Among Schroff's teammates were Jesse "Lefty" Bell, Ralph Clark, Joe Becker, George "Brindle" Long, Heinie Huffman, Raymond "Ike" Law and George C. "Kirk" Beckwith, who was a battery-mate of Schroff.

A native of Lucas, Ohio, Mr. Schroff resided on North Mechanic street before the family moved from Cumberland to Ohio about 35 years ago.

Surviving are three children at Fort Wayne, Ind., May Schroff Hatch and James and Richard Schroff. Mr. Schroff has been a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, since the days he resided here.

Kelley Cops Marathon

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—John J. Kelley of the Boston Athletic Assn. won his fourth straight national AAU marathon championship Sunday. He is the first runner ever to win the title four times.

Kelley completed the 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 21 minutes, 54.4 seconds and finished more than a mile in front of two Boston A.A. teammates.

James Green of the BAA was second in 2:29:51 and Anthony Sapeinza of the BAA was third in 2:36:14.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Four days of qualification for the 500-mile Speedway auto race ended late Sunday with the 33 starters in next Saturday's Memorial Day classic averaging a speed of 143.004 miles per hour.

Fifteen cars completed their 10-mile trial runs Sunday but three were too slow to gain a starting spot and two others were bumped earlier.

The field average compared with last year's 143.445 mph, and the slowest qualifier this time, rookie Jim McWhitney, Anderson, Ind., squeaked into the lineup at a clip of 141.215.

Bob Christie, Grants Pass, Ore., the fastest qualifier Sunday at 143.244, was the slowest in last year's field at 142.253.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

Hollywood Is Talking About: That for the first time in the history of motion pictures, attendance at Hollywood-produced movies in Europe now tops tickets sold in the U.S.A. Price of the average admission in Europe is 50 cents. Draw your own conclusions.

Debbie Reynolds' enormous financial success after signing a five picture deal with Perleberg-Scotton PLUS her MGM contract and TV rights. The girl who at one time was thinking of retiring because "Eddie's career is more important than mine" is suddenly the most valuable property in movies.

The heretofore aloof Suzy Parker telephoning around Hollywood making contacts for her photographer husband, Pierre de la Salle, who is here on a pictorial assignment from Paris Match Magazine.

Mickey Rooney's dignity in refusing to be drawn into the Ed Sullivan fracas regarding the awarding of the Emmy as "best actor" to Fred Astaire. Says the Mick, "It's over and done with—and I congratulate Mr. Astaire." Pretty nice considering that Mickey was way up in the running for the same honor.

Luana Patten, former child star, now emulating as a glamour girl in "Home From the Hill" with Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker, at MGM. On this same lot 13 years ago, Luana was trading lollipops with Butch Jenkins!

The wistful comment of the former Mrs. Jack Lemmon on the breakup of her marriage to Cliff Robertson, "I don't know what happened, all I know is that I am a two-time loser in less than two years."

The return of Luise Rainer to the Broadway stage in Agatha Christie's "The House on the Lake" with Luise looking so young and attractive Hollywood should certainly recall the former two-time Oscar winner.

Chuckle of the week: The story about the four men from Mars whose space ship landed on that famous golf course in Georgia, who after a short reconnaissance, reported back to their captain: "But he says he IS their leader!"

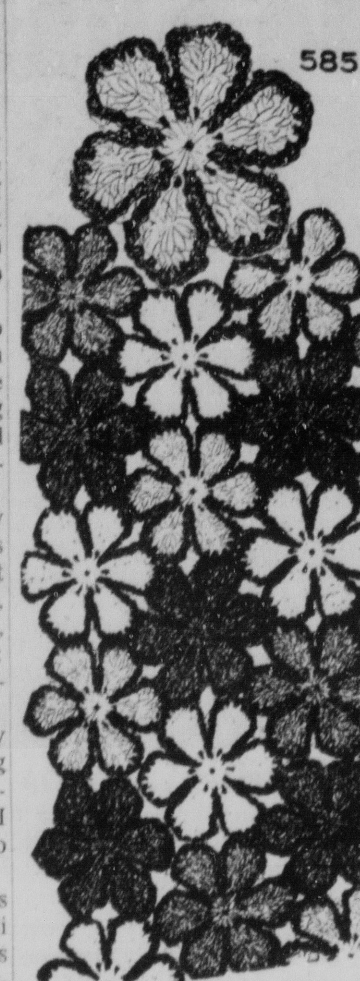

Kim Novak's comment on why she and her parents are occupying Aly Khan's beautiful Villa L'Horizon on the Riviera, "Aly and I are friends and he wants us to be comfortable."

Anthony Eden Jr., son of the former prime minister of England, joining Jimmy Cagney, Jr., and Robert Montgomery, Jr., in Bob's picture starring Cagney, Sr., "The Gallant Hours."

Sharpen your working tools with enthusiasm!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Path To Success

We all admire people who accomplish things — people who DO what we'd LIKE to be doing. There's one thing that these people have in common. That's enthusiasm!

Society leaders, political leaders, top-flight career girls, eminent professional and business people, famous artists in every field, all leave a wave of enthusiasm behind them for whatever it is they are trying to accomplish. So great is their own enthusiasm that others can't resist it.

No matter what your goal, the enthusiasm you put into your efforts to achieve it will have an important bearing on your success.

If you're looking for a job, study your qualifications. Have every reason why you think you can do the job at the tip of your tongue. Then go after the position with all the energy and enthusiasm you can muster. Often such enthusiasm will sell you over a competitor with higher qualifications but presented in a languid manner.

Want to get ahead in what you are now doing? With all the enthusiasm you can command, start sharpening your working tools. Learn, study and practice your trade with keen interest. You will be sure to gain the enthusiastic recognition you desire. This technique will work whether you are a homemaker, a career girl or both.

As any salesman will agree, it takes enthusiasm to sell anything. That's something to keep in mind whenever you are trying to influence others or put over an idea.

The zeal you bring to anything you do affects you favorably. It puts a light in your eye, a vibrant quality into your voice. It eases your task and keeps your heart young. It affects the others favorably, too. It lightens his load and his spirit, and makes him want to see you succeed!

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South you hold:
AK 6 ♠ 4 2 ♦ KQ 3 ♣ J 9 8 7 4
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand is a little too good for a simple raise in clubs. Some mild effort should be made to encourage partner to go on, and the best choice is one no trump which, over a club, indicates from nine to 11 points.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
AQ 5 ♠ 7 2 ♦ A 9 3 ♣ KJ 10 9 8 3
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♣ 3 ♦ ?

What do you bid?

A.—East's pre-empt has jammed up the bidding and your best action is somewhat of a guess. Three no trump seems a reasonable choice on the ground that nine tricks should be easier to win than 11.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
AQ 8 3 ♠ AK ♦ 10 8 6 5 4 ♣ QJ 3
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. Normally a count of 13 points is required for a jump to two no trump, but after a previous pass this action may be taken with 11 or 12. A jump to three diamonds is not recommended because partner with a doubtful holding in the major suits may not be able to bid no trump, and your hand, despite five diamonds, is of the balanced type.

Q. 4—You are vulnerable, the opponents have a 30 part score and as South you hold:
AAKJ 10 9 6 5 ♥ AK ♦ K10 9 3
The bidding has proceeded:

What do you bid now?

A.—We would advise you to quit while the quitting is good. This is obviously a misfit and the best place to play such hands is at as low a level as is convenient. One more bid by you may start a barrage of doubles from the enemy. Remember four suits do not necessarily spell three no trump.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
AQ 10 6 3 ♥ 4 ♦ KQ 8 5 2 ♣ 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Two small trumps are not considered adequate support on which to offer a raise, but North's bid shows at least a good six card suit and our six points should be enough to produce a reasonable play for game.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
AQ 10 6 3 ♥ 4 ♦ KQ 8 5 2 ♣ 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—We would advise you to quit while the quitting is good. This is obviously a misfit and the best place to play such hands is at as low a level as is convenient. One more bid by you may start a barrage of doubles from the enemy. Remember four suits do not necessarily spell three no trump.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
AS 4 2 ♥ AK 3 ♦ K 10 8 6 5 ♣ AK

What do you bid now?

A.—We would advise you to quit while the quitting is good. This is obviously a misfit and the best place to play such hands is at as low a level as is convenient. One more bid by you may start a barrage of doubles from the enemy. Remember four suits do not necessarily spell three no trump.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
AS 4 2 ♥ AK 3 ♦ K 10 8 6 5 ♣ AK

What do you bid now?

A.—Generally in this situation a raise is offered to partner, but with all our values located in the other suits we would prefer to bid three no trump and await developments. If partner's hand is highly unbalanced, he may take control of the situation himself.

Q. 9—As South you hold:
AS 4 2 ♥ AK 3 ♦ K 10 8 6 5 ♣ AK

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. A two heart bid is not recommended. Partner has described a hand whose virtues are to be found principally in the diamond suit. If he were interested in hearts, he would have doubled first and then shown his diamonds. (Copyright 1959, The Chicago Tribune)

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 NT. Pass 3 ♣ Pass

? What do you bid now?

A.—Generally in this situation a raise is offered to partner, but with all our values located in the other suits we would prefer to bid three no trump and await developments. If partner's hand is highly unbalanced, he may take control of the situation himself.

Q. 9—As South you hold:
AS 4 2 ♥ AK 3 ♦ K 10 8 6 5 ♣ AK

What do you bid now?

A.—We would advise you to quit while the quitting is good. This is obviously a misfit and the best place to play such hands is at as low a level as is convenient. One more bid by you may start a barrage of doubles from the enemy. Remember four suits do not necessarily spell three no trump.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

Hollywood Is Talking About: That for the first time in the history of motion pictures, attendance at Hollywood-produced movies in Europe now tops tickets sold in the U.S.A. Price of the average admission in Europe is 50 cents. Draw your own conclusions.

Debbie Reynolds' enormous financial success after signing a five picture deal with Perleberg-Seaton PLUS her MGM contract and TV rights. The girl who at one time was thinking of retiring because "Eddie's career is more important than mine" is suddenly the most valuable property in movies.

The heretofore aloof Suzy Parker telephoning around Hollywood making contacts for her photographer husband, Pierre de la Salle, who is here on a pictorial assignment from Paris Match Magazine.

Mickey Rooney's dignity in refusing to be drawn into the Ed Sullivan fracas regarding the awarding of the Emmy as "best actor" to Fred Astaire. Says the Mick, "It's over and done with—and I congratulate Mr. Astaire."

Pretty nice considering that Mickey was way up in the running for the same honor.

Luana Patten, former child star, now emoting as a glamorous girl in "Home From the Hill" with Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker, at MGM. On this same lot 13 years ago, Luana was trading lollipops with Butch Jenkins!

The wistful comment of the former Mrs. Jack Lemmon on the breakup of her marriage to Cliff Robertson, "I don't know what happened, all I know is that I am a two-time loser in less than two years."

The return of Luise Rainer to the Broadway stage in Agatha Christie's "The House on the Lake" with Luise looking so young and attractive Hollywood should certainly recall the former two-time Oscar winner.

Chuckie of the week: The story about the four men from Mars whose space ship landed on that famous golf course in Georgia, who after a short reconnaissance, reported back to their captain: "But he says he IS their leader!"

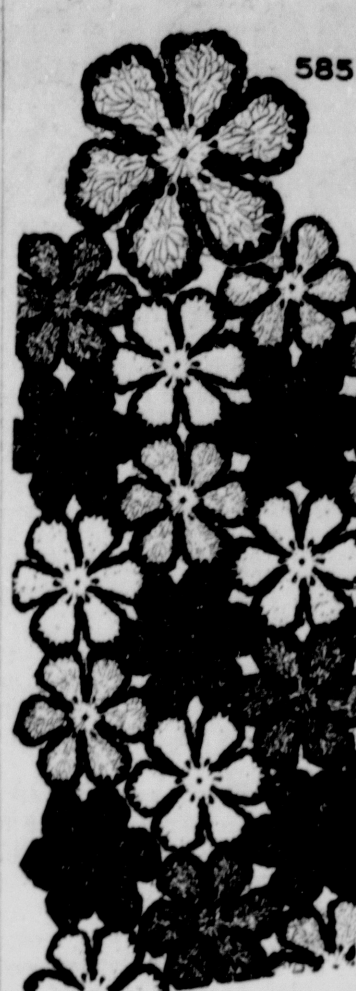

Kim Novak's comment on why she and her parents are occupying Aly Khan's beautiful Villa L'Horizon on the Riviera, "Aly and I are friends and he wants us to be comfortable."

Anthony Eden Jr., son of the former prime minister of England, joining Jimmy Cagney, Jr., and Robert Montgomery, Jr., in Bob's picture starring Cagney, Sr., "The Gallant Hours."

Latest quote from Zsa Zsa Gabor: "I never accept gifts from perfect strangers. No one is perfect."

Sharpen your working tools with enthusiasm!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Path To Success

We all admire people who accomplish things—people who DO what we'd LIKE to be doing.

There's one thing that these people have in common. That's enthusiasm!

Society leaders, political leaders, top-flight career girls, eminent professional and business people, famous artists in every field, all leave a wave of enthusiasm behind them for whatever it is they are trying to accomplish. So great is their own enthusiasm that others can't resist it.

No matter what your goal, the enthusiasm you put into your efforts to achieve it will have an important bearing on your success.

If you're looking for a job, study your qualifications. Have every reason why you think you can do the job at the tip of your tongue. Then go after the position with all the energy and enthusiasm you can muster. Often such enthusiasm will sell you over a competitor with higher qualifications but presented in a languid manner.

Want to get ahead in what you are now doing? With all the enthusiasm you can command, start sharpening your working tools. Learn, study and practice your trade with keen interest.

You will be sure to gain the enthusiastic recognition you desire. This technique will work whether you are a homemaker, a career girl or both.

As any salesman will agree, it takes enthusiasm to sell anything. That's something to keep in mind whenever you are trying to influence others or put over an idea.

The zeal you bring to anything you do affects you favorably. It puts a light in your eye, a vibrant quality into your voice. It eases your task and keeps your heart young. It affects the other fellow favorably, too. It lightens his load and his spirit, and makes him want to see you succeed!

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South you hold:

AK 6 ♥ 4 2 ♦ KQ 3 ♣ J 9 7 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand is a little too good for a simple raise in clubs. Some mild effort should be made to encourage partner to go on, and the best choice is one no trump which, over a club, indicates from nine to 11 points.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

AQ 5 ♥ 7 2 ♦ A 9 3 ♣ KJ 10 9 8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♣ 3 ♦ ?

What do you bid?

A.—East's pre-empt has jammed up the bidding and your best action is somewhat of a guess. Three no trump seems a reasonable choice on the ground that nine tricks should be easier to win than 11.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

AQ 8 3 ♥ AK 10 8 6 5 4 ♠ QJ 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♦ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. Normally a count of 13 points is required for a jump to two no trump, but after a previous pass this action may be taken with 11 or 12. A jump to three diamonds is not recommended because partner with a doubtful holding in the major suits may not be able to bid no trump, and your hand, despite five diamonds, is of the balanced type.

Q. 4—You are vulnerable, the opponents have a 30 part score and as South you hold:

AKJ 10 9 6 5 ♥ AK ♦ K10 9 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♣ 3 ♦ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Two small trumps are not considered adequate support on which to offer a raise, but North's bid shows at least a good six card suit and our six points should be enough to produce a reasonable play for game.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

AK 3 2 ♥ 8 4 ♦ 10 9 7 3 ♠ AQ 6 4

from Napoli and recalled his first visit to that seaport city remembering that he had taken a taxi ride to a certain destination. "Although I was only a young priest," he said, "the driver never addressed me with the title of Excellency. Though I had promised him a good tip, he also insisted on taking me a round about way so that he could build up the fare."

His adroitness with a quip and his cheerful attitude have endeared the Pope to the Roman citizenry, who have perhaps less reverence but more love for him than, say, American Catholics. So vastly amused are they by the fact that John likes nothing better than to dodge his guards and chauffeurs and walk through the Roman streets on his own that one of their affectionate nicknames for him is "Johnny Walk."

Bishop Sheen tells a funny story about being pointed at one day by a little boy as he walked the streets in his formal cap. "Look," the child said, "it's S. perman!" There may have been those in the past who thought that Sheen stressed humor somewhat too strongly in his TV talks, but they've been put to rout. The Bishop is now serene in the knowledge that his approach is nothing more than company policy.

A cartoon illustration by DONTAGAN. A man in a dark suit, white shirt, and patterned tie, wearing a fedora, stands outside an office. He holds a revolver in his right hand, pointing it towards the left. He is looking at a woman standing next to him. The woman has short, curly hair and is wearing a patterned dress with a large collar. Inside the office, which has a sign that reads "INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE", two men are sitting at a desk. A political cartoon by J. C. Jones. The scene is set in an office, indicated by a sign on the wall that reads "U.S. CENSUS BUREAU". A man in a suit is seated at a desk, looking at a newspaper. Two other men in suits stand behind him; one is pointing at a sign that reads "TIME TO COME TO OUR CENSUS". A small sign on the desk says "CHIEF". The cartoon is signed "J.C. Jones" in the bottom left corner.

EXPLANATION

We wish to inform the public about the article in the Evening Times published May

1st about Harold's Used Cars.

The article claimed we failed to deliver titles to customers.

This is to explain that Har-old's had all the said titles in stock waiting for the purchasers to bring in the money to make necessary transfers.

The misdemeanor was that the transfer of title was not consummated in the 10-days required by the Department of Motor Vehicles. The instances complained of were situations in which the purchaser had not completed payments of the title fees to us within said 10-day period.

EXPLANATION

We wish to inform the public about the article in the Evening Times published May 1st about Harolds Used Cars. The article claimed we failed to deliver titles to customers. This is to explain that Harold's had all the said titles in stock waiting for the purchasers to bring in the money to make necessary transfers.

The misdemeanor was that the transfer of title was not consummated in the 10-days required by the Department of Motor Vehicles. The instances complained of were situations in which the purchaser had not completed payments of the title fees to us within said 10-day period.

Military honors will be accord-ending a violence-marred, four-month strike at the West Virginia

Pulp and Paper Co. plant here.

Officials of the company and the United Papermakers and Paper-workers Union announced Saturday night they would sign an agreement based on recommendations of state mediators.

The pact bars the company from firing 26 employees who were discharged for allegedly taking part in picket-line fights. Instead, nose, head, mouth and arms the 26 will be given disciplinary layoffs, ranging from 30 to 120 days, a union spokesman said.

Steen sustained lacerations of the line in March when the company he is "fair." Also listed as "fair" tried to operate with 250 salaried workers on the production line. A man, while Miss Luterjuy suffered a hip injury and cuts about hunched picketing. The company halted production that same day and violence ended.

The 26 workers facing layoffs agreed acceptance of the new agreement, although they insisted they were innocent, and it was approved at a union meeting Saturday night.

The investigating officers said the car was traveling east on the new county road between Pavia and the accident occurred about

Rio Man Dies As Car Skids Off Highway

Melvin Teets, 42,
Thrown From Auto

A 42-year-old Rio, W. Va., man was killed and another man was injured when they were thrown from a speeding car when it skidded and overturned several times early yesterday afternoon.

West Virginia State Police identified the dead man as Melvin Teets. They said he was pronounced dead on arrival at Hampshire County Memorial Hospital in Romney. He died of a fractured skull.

Injured in the accident was Leroy Helmick, 25, also of Rio, who was taken to Winchester Memorial Hospital in Virginia and admitted with a broken nose and cuts and bruises. His condition is listed "good" at the hospital.

Trooper William Steffick and Trooper William Barlow investigated the accident and said the car left the highway about 1 1/2 miles from Rio as it traveled north on the Rio-Augusta secondary road. The accident occurred at 1:45 p.m.

90 Miles An Hour

The troopers said the injured Helmick told them Teets was driving the car in a reckless manner, often exceeding 90 miles per hour. He told the officers he pleaded with Teets to let him out of the car, but that the driver refused to do so. The automobile crashed on a slight curve in the road, skidding 604 feet, rolling over many times before landing on its top.

The investigating officers said Helmick was thrown from the car as it turned over, landing on a small embankment. The troopers said the dead man also was thrown from the car, his body being found nearly 63 feet from the car.

Marks on the highway indicated the car swerved back and forth on the road before turning over, the officers stated. They are continuing their investigation of the accident.

Girl Killed In Crash

In another fatal crash late Saturday night about 20 miles north of Bedford, Pa., a 19-year-old Portage girl was killed and four other persons were injured, one critically, when an automobile smashed head-on into a tree after failing to round a curve in the highway.

Pennsylvania State Police identified the dead girl as Barbara Hetrick, and said she died of a broken neck and crushed shoulder when she was thrown from the car when it struck the tree.

Admitted to Nason Hospital, Roaring Spring, were William Steen, 23, St. Michael's, Cambria County, Pa., who police said was driving the car; Melvin Chapman, 22, Beaverdale; Ruth Luterjok, 20, of Portage, and Robert Cook, 32, Beaverdale.

Police said Cook is the most seriously injured with a fractured skull, compound fracture of the

Baby Girl's Body Still Unidentified

The badly decomposed body of an infant which was found Saturday evening in a small cardboard box on the B&O Railroad Company's dump near Offutt Street has been identified as that of a newborn eight-pound baby girl.

The deputy medical examiner's office said last night, however, that the body was in such a decomposed condition that the cause of death could not be determined.

The fully-developed infant was found by two youngsters who were playing in the area Saturday. The boys were identified by City Police as Gregory Snyder, 36 Elder Street, and Edward Brown, 1012 Ella Avenue.

Authorities said the two boys found the box containing the child's body and notified their parents, who in turn called City Police to the scene.

Officers investigating are Sgt. Clarence C. Roby and Patrolmen Kenneth Harvey, Royce Clayton and Harold Gibson, in addition to the detective bureau and the state's attorney's office.

County investigator Edwin R. Lylia said last night that he had received a report that there were no signs of violence or brutality. He added that a full-scale investigation is being conducted to determine the identity of the baby and how it died.

Police theorized that the box containing the body may have been placed on the dump within the past two or three days. They said the very warm weather would be instrumental in the fast decomposition of the body.

They said the infant was in a box about one foot square and was without clothing. Several rags were found lying nearby. The box was found on the B&O dump used for old filters and waste matter. It was not concealed, police said.

Soil District Gets Three New Cooperators

Three new district cooperators have been approved by the Allegheny Soil Conservation District Supervisors during a meeting in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Martin Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, reported that Doc G. Flanagan, who has 50 acres of land in the Danville section, is interested in a farm pond as well as a general conservation plan.

E. L. Thomas Jr. of Frostburg is seeking the solution to a drainage problem on his land which includes some 205 acres.

Ralph Rader of Oldtown, who has 115 acres of ground, is interested in a general conservation plan including water development and pasture improvement.

Floyd Buser of Warrior Mountain, chairman of the supervisors, said that again this year the district will enter the National Soil Conservation District Award contest sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

The contest will run from May 1 this year until April 3, 1960. Activities within the district are scored, as well as accomplishments and supervisory work of the supervisors.

Meetings and cooperation with land owners are also taken into consideration. Top award is an all-expense trip for the chairman and an outstanding conservation farmer who will travel to Litchfield Park, Arizona, where the Goodyear Research Farm is located. Kent County won the award in Maryland last year.

Others at the meeting were D. T. Puffinberger, of Little Orleans and Ernest Slider, of Town Creek.

George Clark Bond Is Set At $5,000

Veterans Group Expands Hospital Bed Loan Setup

A community service program, which provides hospital-type beds and folding wheel chairs to residents of Cumberland, is being expanded by Mountain Chapter 166, Order of the Purple Heart.

Herbert McFarland, past commander and a national vice commander of the organization, said he took charge of the project about three years ago.

Last week about $500 worth of new equipment was delivered to the chapter home, 770 Greene Street, adding to the equipment now on hand.

The latest-type equipment will be uncrated and stored at the home for immediate use by anyone in the city who may need it.

Mr. McFarland said the equipment is loaned to elderly persons in ill health or to persons who may sustain a fractured leg or other serious injury and require the special type bed or chair.

Received recently were three adjustable hospital-type beds with box spring mattresses which are covered with durable plastic.

The latest - type folding wheel chairs are light in weight and are equipped with brakes, Mr. McFarland added. From year to year the equipment is purchased with chapter funds.

The members feel that since the public supports the non-profit organization, the chapter in turn should render the community service for the benefit of the people.

The chapter, which has about $1,000 in beds and chairs, also has a few pairs of crutches available for local residents.

The Order of the Purple Heart, which formerly met at the home of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, has been located at the Greene Street address since about 1946.

Cash And Check Taken From Home

City Police are probing the disappearance of $349 in cash and a check for $108.47 which were reported stolen from the home of C. A. Dye, 1413 Bedford Street.

Police said entrance to the residence apparently was gained by cutting a hole in the rear screen door and unlatching the door.

Mr. Dye said most of the cash was taken from a drawer in a desk in the dining room of his home. The remainder was taken from his wife's purse, which was lying on the desk, and from his wallet, which was in the desk, he told police.

Sybert Defends Legislators' Title Work

Solons Get Fees
From Roads Unit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert has come to the defense of the State Roads Commission's policy of having Maryland legislators in right-of-way cases.

Sybert issued the statement Saturday while releasing a list which showed $81,667 of the $334,500 paid by the SRC in legal fees last year went to 34 members of the current or preceding General Assembly or their law firms.

"Often some of the ablest lawyers in the county are members of the General Assembly," Sybert said, "and it would be foolish and discriminatory not to have the state avail itself of their services. There is no law or canon of ethics which even remotely prohibits it."

Kelley Got Least

Former Judge William J. McWilliams, whose Annapolis law firm includes Del. Ridgely P. Melvin (D-Anne Arundel), topped the list of fees linked to legislators with $15,865. The smallest amount, $75, went to Del. Estel C. Kelley (R-Allegany).

Another on the list of 321 attorneys or firms sharing 4,702 pieces of work was Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County), who received $13,860 for title examinations, settlements and condemnation cases.

Sybert said the practice of giving roads business to legislators has been criticized on the theory the fees would influence them "in favor of legislation desired by the State Roads Commission."

"Nothing could be further from the facts," he said. "At times, lawyers who have received the larger fees have voted against roads commission legislation."

The attorney general said he selects the attorneys and approves their fees, adding he was "not going to penalize lawyers because they are members of the Legislature."

"We have held our legal expenses to a minimum," Sybert said. "Legal fees allowed are substantially less than charges by private lawyers for similar work."

Current members of the Legislature who received fees last year individually or as members of firms included:

From the Senate:
Samuel W. Barrick (D-Fredrick) $490, Walter B. Dorsey (D-St. Marys) $985, and Edward Weant Jr. (D-Carroll) $3,100.

Local Delegates Listed

From the House:
Charles M. Mathias Jr. (R-Fredrick) $425, Alger Y. Barbee (D-Montgomery) $1,380, Noel S. Cook (R-Allegany) $1,270, Ernest A. Lovelless Jr. (D-Prince Georges) $2,380, Harvey G. Machen (D-Prince Georges) $1,000, Lansdale G. Sasser Jr. (D-Prince Georges) $4,250.

Also C. Clifton Virts (D-Fredrick) $605, J. Grahame Walker (D-Montgomery) $325, William Walsh (D-Allegany) $1,240, and Charles W. Woodward Jr. (D-Montgomery) $1,225.

Former members of the Legislature who worked for the SRC, and either did not run or were defeated in last year's elections, included:

Delegates Jacob B. Berkson (R-Washington) $1,260, and George R. Hughes (R-Allegany) $1,200, and Sen. Joseph A. Mattingly (D-St. Marys) $1,565.

Rio Man Dies As Car Skids Off Highway

Melvin Teets, 42, Thrown From Auto

A 42-year-old Rio, W. Va., man was killed and another man was injured when they were thrown from a speeding car when it skidded and overturned several times early yesterday afternoon.

West Virginia State Police identified the dead man as Melvin Teets. They said he was pronounced dead on arrival at Hampshire County Memorial Hospital in Romney. He died of a fractured skull.

Injured in the accident was Leroy Helmick, 25, also of Rio, who was taken to Winchester Memorial Hospital in Virginia and admitted with a broken nose and cuts and bruises. His condition is listed "good" at the hospital.

Trooper William Steffick and Trooper William Barlow investigated the accident and said the car left the highway about 1 1/2 miles from Rio as it traveled north on the Rio-Augusta secondary road. The accident occurred at 1:45 p.m.

50 Miles An Hour

The troopers said the injured Helmick told them Teets was driving the car in a reckless manner, often exceeding 50 miles per hour. He told the officers he pleaded with Teets to let him out of the car, but that the driver refused to do so. The automobile crashed on a slight curve in the road, skidding 604 feet, rolling over many times before landing on its top.

The investigating officers said Helmick was thrown from the car as it turned over, landing on a small embankment. The troopers said the dead man also was thrown from the car, his body being found nearly 63 feet from the car.

Marks on the highway indicated the car swerved back and forth on the road before turning over, the officers stated. They are continuing their investigation of the accident.

Girl Killed In Crash

In another fatal crash late Saturday night about 20 miles north of Bedford, Pa., a 19-year-old Portage girl was killed and four other persons were injured, one critically, when an automobile smashed head-on into a tree after failing to round a curve in the highway.

Pennsylvania State Police identified the dead girl as Barbara Hetrick, and said she died of a broken neck and crushed shoulder when she was thrown from the car when it struck the tree.

Admitted to Nason Hospital, Roaring Spring, were William Steen, 23, St. Michael's, Cambria County, Pa., who police said was driving the car; Melvin Chapman, 22, Beaverdale; Ruth Luterjuy, 20, of Portage, and Robert Cook, 32, Beaverdale.

Police said Cook is the most seriously injured with a fractured skull, compound fracture of the

The subject of his talk will be "The Preliminary Results of an Interpretation of Aeromagnetic Data in Southeastern Pennsylvania."

The project was flown by the United States Geological Survey in cooperation with the state of Pennsylvania and preliminary results indicate that much useful information on the regional and structural geologic problems in the area may be gained from an interpretation of the magnetic data.

The detailed aeromagnetic survey, according to Mr. Bromery, covers an area of approximately 5,000 square miles and includes five separate geologic provinces.

Calculations on the magnetic data show the extent of the exposed magnetic rocks, the depth of burial of the covered magnetic rocks, and probable structural attitudes of both buried and exposed magnetic rocks.

His talk in Harrisburg will summarize these results.

A more detailed interpretation of specific area will be presented in a series of four papers to be delivered by Mr. Bromery and three of his co-workers at the Geological Society of America's annual meeting in Pittsburgh in November.

Mr. Bromery, who received his early education at Carver High School, is an airborne physicist for the U.S. Geological Survey.

During World War II he served in the Air Force. He attended the University of Michigan and graduated from Howard University, Washington, D.C. Mr. Bromery is married to the former, Cecile Prescott of Charleston, S.C., and they have three children.

Sybert Defends Legislators' Title Work

Solons Get Fees From Roads Unit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert has come to the defense of the State Roads Commission's policy of his Maryland legislators in right-of-way cases.

Sybert issued the statement Saturday while releasing a list which showed $81,267 of the $334,500 paid by the SRC in legal fees last year went to 34 members of the current or preceding General Assembly or their law firms.

"Often some of the ablest lawyers in the county are members of the General Assembly," Sybert said. "and it would be foolish and discriminatory not to have the state avail itself of their services. There is no law or canon of ethics which even remotely prohibits it."

Kelley Got Least

Former Judge William J. McWilliams, whose Annapolis law firm includes Del. Ridgely P. Melvin (D-Anne Arundel), topped the list of fees linked to legislators with $15,865. The smallest amount, $75, went to Del. Estel C. Kelley (R-Allegany).

Another on the list of 321 attorneys or firms sharing 4,702 pieces of work was Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County), who received $13,860 for title examinations, settlements and condemnation cases.

Sybert said the practice of giving roads business to legislators has been criticized on the theory the fees would influence them "in favor of legislation desired by the State Roads Commission."

"Nothing could be further from the facts," he said. "At times, lawyers who have received the larger fees have voted against roads commission legislation."

The attorney general said he selects the attorneys and approves their fees, adding he was "not going to penalize lawyers because they are members of the Legislature."

"We have held our legal expenses to a minimum," Sybert said. "Legal fees allowed are substantially less than charges by private lawyers for similar work."

Current members of the Legislature who received fees last year individually or as members of firms included:

From the Senate:

Samuel W. Barrick (D-Fredrick) $490, Walter B. Dorsey (D-St. Marys) $985, and Edward Weant Jr. (D-Carroll) $3,100.
